SSF Warned of Crime-Related Businesses

By JANET PARKER

Police departments no longer can keep crime-related businesses out of the suburban core without help from the community.

That was the message this week from the South San Francisco Police Department chief and officers at a community crime information series.

The 30 merchants and residents were on hand to hear a talk on the potential effect of certain vice-oriented activities on businesses in the city.

The presentation was of especial interest since the city Planning Commission Tuesday night was scheduled to consider an application by Earl Kuhn of San Francisco for an adult bookstore with movie peep shows and amusement machines.

The City Council approved last week a use permit for a palmistry studio, which many residents and church leaders said would attract undesirables into the city.

The Police Department officials, however, said they were not referring to any business in particular but rather the entire realm of businesses requiring special police attention and investigation.

"The question is, how long are we (the police department) going to be able to discourage these people at the level we have been able to heretofore," said Capt. Jim Swinford of the city police force.

Such controversial businesses, Swinford said, have been showing interest in South San Francisco for many years.

Swinford said that in the last four years several individuals have contacted the Police Department stating intentions to open up an elaborate "men's spa" in the Cabot, Cabot and Forbes Industrial Park, where many of South San Francisco's industries are located.

The interested party had said the spa would be a place for businessmen to take a sauna and girls would give massages, Swinford said.

After initial discussions with the department, the party never returned.

Swinford said there have been many inquiries by persons who hoped to show X-rated movies at the old State Theater, a building on Spruce Avenue that the Fire department has designated unsafe. The department has been able to discourage others interested in opening massage parlors, he said.

Police Chief James Datzman said that within the last year, a prominent San Mateo businessman has informed the police department of his plans to invest $250,000 in the old theater and nearby buildings to create a showplace including adult movies.

"We told him we would come out front and fight him off if he did so," Datzman said. "I think he went home and thought twice about it."

They haven't heard anything additional about his plans.

Datzman said once a city starts allowing businesses such as massage parlors, adult bookstores, adult movie theaters and others, it takes 20 to 30 years before the businesses either leave or the city forces them out.

Two San Jose vice squad officers explained how one adult theater on First Street in the downtown area led to an influx of vice-oriented businesses, forcing many long established businesses into outlying areas. The remaining businesses were forced to board up their front doors and build rear entrances, they said.

There now are six adult theaters in San Jose, three in a one-block area. Of all those arrested on vice-related charges in the city, 90 per cent are from out of town, said Sgt. Don Mills.

In the last few years, San Jose has formed a vice squad, and legal proceedings against many of the vice-related businesses have hindered their growth, Mills said.

"We found out that the people who yell the loudest are the ones who are going to get the most attention," Mills said. "The police department can only do so much, let's face it."

"If you don't do something now, you might end up with one (vice-oriented business) now and many later," Mills said.

There are no clear-cut answers in dealing with pornography, Datzman said. Courts have offered conflicting decisions and city councils are confused.

The chief said he estimates it will cost the city an additional $500,000 to patrol the streets if crime-related businesses are permitted to move in.

Survey Shows 600 Homes Need Repairs

A citywide survey of Daly City has revealed that some 600 homes, primarily around the Crocker Hills and BART station areas, are in need of substantial repair.

City Manager David Rowe Monday informed the council that he would like to see a residential rehabilitation program immediately get underway to bring these homes up to code.

The council, after reading the three page report from Rowe, set a public hearing on the matter for March 22.

For more than a year the city has been looking into the matter of home repair loans for areas in the eastern sector of Daly City.

In 1975 the city received $89,000 under the Housing and Community Development Act program of the federal government.

This year the city expects to get $125,000, according to Community Development Department Supervisor Don Fleming.

Fleming said the primary goal of the program is to upgrade substandard housing. He estimated the average loan for this purpose would be $3,500.

Money for the loans will be disbursed to banking institutions located in the target areas, it was understood.

There will be several methods of repaying the loans, Fleming explained.

Loans may include, but are not limited to, standard form home improvement loans, interest-only loans, and deferred payment loans (where payment is postponed up to 20 years), Fleming explained.

Actually, the system generates more money to be used for more home improvement loans, Fleming said.

No interest rates have, as yet, been discussed. This is expected to follow the March public hearing.

Homeowners in the target area have been asking the city to institute the program for some time.

Conrad Pavellas, chairman of the Original Daly City Protective Association, said people had been in limbo regarding what to do with their deteriorating homes because they were uncertain whether the city was about to condemn them.

Once the program is in effect this doubt will disappear, he said.

It was Pavellas' group who fought the city's attempts to declare the residential area portions of the Mission-Junipero Serra Blvd. corridor part of the redevelopment project.

Coupled with the loan program will be stronger enforcement of the city building codes, one city official predicted.

"There will be no good reason for not repairing these homes and bringing them up to code when these monies become available," the official said.

DC Police Arrest Burglary Suspects

Daly City police Monday arrested three men in connection with a series of house and apartment burglaries in the city committed during recent weeks.

Det. John Kirby arrested two Daly City brothers after he saw them in a car driving along Junipero Serra Freeway near John Daly Boulevard about 1 p.m.

Police said that one of the brothers was wanted for parole violation. When Kirby stopped their car, he said, he saw some stolen items being thrown out of the vehicle, police said.

Arrested and charged with parole violation, possession of stolen property and possession of burglary tools was Marlon Baker, 27, 130 Wilson St., Daly City.

His brother, Delmar, 25, was arrested and charged with possession of burglary tools and possession of stolen property.

A third man, Rudy Vejinola, 35, 524 Manor Drive, Pacifica, was later arrested at his home and charged in the investigation of burglary and violation of parole in connection with the case, police said.

"We think these arrests will clear some 25 burglary cases," a police department spokesman said.

The Future is Uncertain

Fortune-telling Study

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The future of fortunetelling in Daly City will not be predicted for at least another two weeks, the City Council decided Monday.

After more than an hour of discussing a proposed ordinance that would ban everything from augury to magic tricks, the council decided to study the issue further.

The constitutionality of certain sections of the proposed law bothered Councilman Paul Hupf, a practicing attorney and former Municipal Court judge.

Hupf's primary question was the interpretation of what exactly the ordinance meant when it described "a bonafide church."

The First Amendment to the Constitution specifically prohibits any interference with a person practicing his religion, whatever it might be, Hupf argued.

He also voiced concern over a section of the proposed law that would prohibit hypnotism.

In the case of hypnotism, Hupf pointed out, many licensed and recognized physicians now use this in their practice.

"While some (of the prohibited practices) have a degree of authenticity, others don't," Hupf said.

The wording of the ordinance could even bar everyday horoscopes published in newspapers.

Simple magic acts for children would also violate the statute, unless further explanations are made, members of the council noted.

City Atty. Albert Polonsky had asked the council to push through an emergency ordinance governing "fortunetelling and like practices" in the wake of an application to open a palm reading parlor in the city.

Jack and Helen Adams had asked about two months ago for a permit to open a fortunetelling parlor on Mission Street.

Their attorney, William Boyd, scolded the council Monday for trying to push through an ordinance forbidding such practices in Daly City.

Boyd noted that no reason for prohibiting the parlors was given in the ordinance and charged the council with "Mickey Mousing around with the First Amendment."

He cited the Gypsy tradition of fortunetelling that dates back 4,000 years. He also threatened to take the entire matter to court unless the council approved his client's permit.

But Mayor Victor Kyriakis, also a practicing attorney, said he felt "the spirit behind this ordinance is a good one."

Police Chief David Hansen also opposed the parlors.

Hansen said such places are often turned into bunco rackets where people are bilked out of their money through sleight-of-hand tricks and other tactics.

Boyd said the law was "nothing more than a sham ordinance."

At one point in the proceedings, Hupf, agreeing with Boyd that the ordinance as written is "overly broad," said if such a law was in effect "at the time of Jesus Christ there would be no Christianity today."

Dorothy Adams Will Seek Assembly Post

Dorothy Adams

Dorothy Adams, a Jefferson Elementary School District trustee, said this week she would seek the Republican nomination to the 19th Assembly District, a post now held by Democrat Louis J. Papan.

Mrs. Adams must collect from 40-60 signatures of registered Republicans and file before March 12 in order to complete the nomination for the June primary ballot.

"I have been urged to run by a number of persons interested in legislative planning for school districts," she said. "The problems of the school districts are basically the problems of government in general and should be approached in a comprehensive, programmatic manner."

"Too many decisions are made piecemeal, without considering the effect upon the whole," Mrs. Adams said.

Mrs. Adams cited the need to reallocate the tax burden, so that property taxes more clearly equal the demand for property related services.

She further explained that special interest groups should bear a larger share of the cost of special services, so that their demands on the general taxpayer would become self-limiting.

"It is time for the government to abandon the goal of doing more, and to seek actively to do better," she said.

Mrs. Adams has lived in Daly City for 17 years. She moved there from San Francisco with her husband and daughter.

She has worked with Parent Teachers Association, Girl Scouts and other juvenile welfare groups and is completing her second term on the school board.

Prior to her marriage she was active in union work. Among other positions, she served for two years as co-chairwoman of the Northern California Council of the (then) Independent Union of Petroleum Workers.

Council Worries About Potential Jet Traffic

Councilmen in San Bruno expressed concern Monday night that residential development on San Bruno Mountain may force more aircraft overflights and jet noise in the city.

The council passed a resolution requesting that the Board of Supervisors not certify the San Bruno Mountain general plan amendment until "the impact of the possible loss of the current noise abatement (flight) route over the mountain is fully investigated and disclosed."

The council also asked in the resolution that if aircraft noise increases in the city because of the development, the county "ensure that mitigating measures be adopted and enforced."

Jet aircraft now take off from San Francisco International Airport and fly over the mountain. Thus a "noise abatement route" means there is less noise from jets flying over San Bruno and much of South San Francisco.

San Bruno councilman fear that if the development is approved future mountain residents may complain about the jet noise over the mountain and work to change the flight pattern so airplanes fly over San Bruno.

Robert Follett, general manager of Visitacion Associates, which plans to build housing units on the mountain for some 20,000 persons, told the council that "fears of a return to aircraft departures over San Bruno as a result of development are unfounded."

Follett said that both the Federal Aviation Administration and San Francisco International Airport have confirmed that "no rerouting over the San Bruno gap would be considered."

He quoted Cooper Welsh, Sound Abatement Officer at San Francisco Airport, as saying, "The San Bruno gap is the last place aircraft will fly."

San Bruno residents Ellie Larson, Sylvia Gregory, Rose Urback, Robin Nowinski and Otis Spencer urged the council to adopt the resolution.

Although Follett pointed out that the county already was preparing a study on the possible shift of aircraft flight patterns as a result of the development, the council, by a 4-0 vote with one abstention, passed the resolution.

Mayor John Barnard abstained, explaining he needed more facts on how the development would affect flight patterns before he could support the resolution.

Councilman Richard Griffith said he supported the resolution only because "if it were to be heeded by the . . . supervisors it would have the impact of delaying any development on San Bruno Mountain."

He called the resolution a "cop out," however, adding that "it does not place us on a parity of conscientiousness with neighboring City Councils that have stuck to their 'no-development-on-the-saddle' guns."

Governale Won't Enter Race

San Bruno Councilmen Tony Governale announced Monday night he will not be a candidate for a seat on the County Board of Supervisors.

Governale, who announced his intention to run for the board seat currently held by James Fitzgerald late last year, said he decided not to run "because of the financial situation at this time."

The former San Bruno mayor and current chairman of the Airport Land Use Commission said if he had had the money for a countywide campaign "I could have given the incumbent the kind of race he deserves."

Governale called the provision of electing supervisors by countywide vote instead of by district vote unfair.

He said, "I don't think we are ever going to get representative government in this county until we begin electing our supervisors by district."

San Mateo is one of but a few counties in the state that elects supervisors in a countywide vote. In most counties supervisors are elected in a district-wide vote.

Governale said he would not endorse any supervisorial candidate.

Only two candidates have so far announced their intention to challenge Fitzgerald — San Bruno Councilman Richard Griffith and South San Francisco Councilman Leo Padreddii.

The election will be held June, 2.

Survey Will Be Sent

Parents Protest Minimum Days

An expanding schedule of minimum days at various schools in the Jefferson Elementary School District is being challenged by the Jefferson Council of Parent Teacher Associations.

The PTA council with the assistance of district administrators has formulated a survey that will be sent to all JESD parents in the next month asking their opinion of minimum days. They are held at some of the 20 schools once a week and at other schools once a month or less.

While district administrators say that minimum days are within the limits of district and state educational policies and are necessary to improve teaching quality, some PTA members are questioning their effect on the quality of education.

In minimum day schedules, children are dismissed after lunch and teachers remain on campus to attend workshops or seminars as part of their training.

Presently there are five JESD schools on a minimum schedule one day a week until the end of the school year. They are Franklin Roosevelt, Colma Elementary, Daniel Webster, M. Pauline Brown and Vista Mar. The schedules are in effect for students in the fourth through sixth grades.

MINIMUM DAY schedules are established at the discretion of staff at each school.

"We don't force anybody to have these minimum days," Assistant Superintendent of Curriculum Dr. Jerry Houseman said. "It's something that's available if they want to use it."

At schools where minimum days are held once a week, instruction time is anywhere from 1,400 to 1,405 minutes a week.

At other schools where minimum days are not scheduled weekly, students receive from 1,500 to 1,575 minutes of instruction a week.

School district policy, approved last year by the Board of Trustees, says minimum instructional time shall be 1,350 minutes in grades one through three, 1,500 minutes in grades four through six and 1,525 minutes in grades seven and eight.

The policy also says that ten staff development days per school year should be allowed and encouraged for in service training.

The policy allows up to one minimum day a week. In that case the instructional time can be 1,200 minutes a week in grades one through three and 1,400 minutes in grade four through eight.

THE PTA COUNCIL has questioned why some students receive more time in the classroom than others.

In the survey which will be sent to 7,000 homes beginning Feb. 17, the council wants to find out what parents think.

Parents will be asked if they approve or disapprove of a weekly minimum day schedule and if they believe the programs disrupt the educational program.

The survey also asks parents if they approve of district funds being used to further the training of JESD teachers.

Arlene Pleich, council president, said teachers should further their education at their own initiative.

"If a teacher wants to be a better teacher, he'll do it on his own time," said Mrs. Pleich. School districts, she said, are not required to provide any further training for teachers.

Becky Burke, another PTA representative and a parent of a Vista Mar School student, said there is no other profession where taxpayers are asked to pay for the continuing education of the professional.

"We are essentially paying for them to become better teachers," Mrs. Burke said.

She said the frequent minimum days are taking too much away from the children's education.

The trend in education toward inservice teacher training as part of the work schedule began about 10 years ago and is more prominent in Southern California Dr. Houseman said.

HOUSEMAN SAID there are no studies to prove that the time spent in the classroom affects the quality of education.

Sometimes shorter teaching periods are more effective than longer onces, he said.

"It's really not the

Rookies Arrive

There are three new proud police papas in Daly City.

In a two-day period — February 3 and 4 — girls were born to police officers Michael Scott and his wife, Kathleen; Terry Hanabeck and his wife, Vickie; and, Jim McHenry and his wife, Linda.

Police records of May 3 and 4, 1975, indicate nothing out of the ordinary occurred in the field of law enforcement, according to Lt. Tom Culley.

time but the combination of time and teacher," Houseman said. Other factors influence the quality of teaching, he said, including the teacher's personal training.

When minimum days occur, teachers are required to participate, he said.

The subject matter at each school's in-service session varies from multi-cultural education to reading improvement programs.

In some cases, teacher training is necessary to live up to the agreement the particular school has made to obtain state or federal funding.

The federal or state agencies, however, do not indicate when such training must be held, he said.

Mike Cusick, Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association president, said a minority of the parents are questioning the minimum days.

The survey, he said, is very anti-teacher and anti-education in its content.

The parents involved, he said, are making the assumption that time spent in the classroom affects the quality of education.

"One way to increase the quality of education is to increase the quality of teachers," Cusick said.

TEACHERS NEED to upgrade their skills and most of the teachers already have spent weekends atten$iding seminars and workshops to do so.

Cusick recently sent a survey to teachers asking their opinion of the minimum day schedule. By the end of January 157 teachers said they benefited from inservice training and 23 said they did not.

Teachers favored overwhelmingly working minimum days to getting inservice training on their own time.

Houseman said it will be up to the staff at individual schools to decide if they will expand their inservice training schedule next fall.

Postal Service Eyes Subsidy

By DAN COOK

The U.S. Postal Service is asking for a doubling of the public service payment, or Congressional subsidy, annually granted the system, created earlier in this decade to make the service financially self-reliant, it was revealed Monday.

But Senior Assistant Postmaster General James Conway, in a San Francisco press conference, couched the revelation amidst glowing terms of the financially plagued system's viability as a semi-autonomous enterprise.

He then revealed that the system is eyeing the possibility of closing smaller post offices in an attempt to save dollars by consolidation of services. Conway could not supply specifics of Bay Area closures under consideration.

Conway warned of a $1.5 billion operating deficit for the current year, compared with a deficit operation of $989 million in 1975 and a $438 million loss in 1974.

That represents a difference in deficit spending of $700 million annually since the first year of operation as a government corporation in 1971.

However, the amount of mail handled by human hands during the initial year was about 80 per cent in first class, while the introduction of machines since that time has lowered the figure of manually processed mail to about 40 per cent, Conway asserted.

"We realize that many of the things we're doing will not be universally popular," Conway explained to newsmen, blaming the apparently runaway deficit figure on inflationary pressures.

Conway said the postal service has asked Congress to speed deliveries of the postal rate commission, which has delayed implementation of postal hikes, asked Congress to "take a fresh look at the public serive subsidy (currently 10 per cent of the corporation's budget), and asked for a doubling of that subsidy.

In response to questions, some of them clearly hostile, Conway denied that the first-class user, because of recent rate hikes in that class of service, has been forced to underwrite the cost of third-class mail, sometimes referred to as "junk mail."

Conway said first-class mail accounts for about 60 per cent of the total mail volume, with third- and second-class mail responsible for 24 and 12 per cent, respectively.

The postal official said that advertising mail, which is third class and frequently incurs the wrath of critics at the time of first-class rate hikes, actually pays operating overhead and keeps down the first-class rate.

Conway's remark that the corporation is considering consolidation of services, particularly as it affects smaller communities, prompted questions as to which post offices in the area were slated for closure.

"I have no information at this time on consolidation of services in this area," Conway replied. "We'll be looking for recommendations from the section center manager, and prior to any closures, we will be polling people in the community."

Conway assured that if post offices are to be closed that the communities so affected would receive equal or superior service to what they have now.

Sprockets Take 'Century Ride'

By KATHERINE MILANI
Post Correspondent

MEMBERS of Serramonte High School's Sprockets Bike Club recently took part in their annual "century ride" to Inverness near Point Reyes.

They began their tedious journey at Westlake Fire Station early in the morning and warmed up by riding around Lake Merced, adding five miles on their spedometers!

They then raced to Corte Madera for the first stop and ate lunch.

Finally, Craig Spiegal, century ride champion, reached the finish line eight hours and thirty-two minutes after the takeoff.

Steve Daly came in after him at a finishing time of eight hours, 58 minutes.

Kendall Lee finished third at a finishing time of nine hours, seven minutes. This was the second time Kendall Lee had participated in a century ride.

Brent Burgess was not able to finish the ride due to two flat tires, but he will definitely try again next year.

SERRAMONTE'S Community Environmental Education program will hold the Nuclear Symposium "Project Survival vs. P.G.&E." March 30 at Serramonte High School.

This discussion will focus on the nuclear initiative.

February 3 the Community Environmental Education program visited the Hidden Villa, a youth hostel in the Los Altos Hills. It was an orientation trip for new members and started the new semester off well.

The environmental education program will also be dedicating its water garden sometime in February, but details will not be announced until later.

SERRAMONTE'S Concert Band will participate in the Jefferson Union High School District's Annual Joint Band Concert at 8 p.m. March 18 in Serramonte's main gymnasium.

Westmoor, Oceana, Terra Nova and Jefferson high schools will also take part in this joint concert. It's definitely something one would not want to miss!

The bands will play two pieces each. One of the joint pieces will be "America the Beautiful."

All members of the schools' bands must attend the two rehearsal dates on the evenings of March 16 and 17 at Serramonte.

No New Leads In Girl's Death

There were no new leads Tuesday in the Millbrae murder mystery involving 17-year-old Paula Louise Baxter, police report.

Miss Baxter's body was found Friday morning by a group of fellow Capuchino High School students who joined police in the search when their friend was reported missing.

Coroner's office investigators said she had been stabbed, strangled and hit on the head with a rock. Her nude body was left in a grove of eucalyptus trees off Ludeman Lane.

She was last seen alive Wednesday night at about 8 o'clock when she left a school play rehearsal.

Officers said they are "following every lead, investigating every clue," but no arrests have been made and there are no definite suspects.

Trustees Okay $2 Million Plan

The Jefferson Elementary School District Monday night voted to apply for $2 million for one part of a three-part federal program to help minority students.

The board decided to apply for the money for a basic project under a three-year Emergency School Aid Act (ESAA) plan for helping minority students reach the "mainstream" of education.

The board disapproved two parts of the plan, however — a pilot and a bilingual program.

Board member Beverly Forrester said she voted against the programs because she thought the $236,000 that would have been granted was too much money to spend on educating such a small group of students.

Under the bilingual proposal students in grades 1 through 3 would have been taught Spanish at Crocker Elementary School and eight students in grades 2 and 3 would have been taught Tagalog, the national language of the Philippines, at Christopher Columbus Elementary School, she said.

Mrs. Forrester said she thought the proposal duplicated others the school district already has and would be wasteful.

After Scuffle Visitor Dies

The death of Jack Malae of Honolulu following a brief scuffle with police officers in Pacifica Monday remains a mystery today.

What caused the death of the 330-pound Hawaii resident will not be known for 10 days, according to a spokesman for the San Mateo County Coroner's Office.

According to police, Malae, who was visiting relatives in Pacifica, became involved in an altercation with two youths and police were called to 1176 Alicante Dr., about 9 a.m.

On arrival, police said Malae began to fight with them and suddenly collapsed.

He was rushed to Mary's Help Hospital where he later died, according to reports.

Malae had been visiting his brothers, David and Peter Malae, of 1176 Alicante Drive, Pacifica for the past four months.

General: Reserves Fly Plenty

"The Air Force has 13 squadrons flying C-141 cargo planes, and four squadrons flying C-5 cargo planes, all of which planes are flown by Air Force Reservists, did you known that?"

General James Wade, commander of a combined regular service and Reservist unit at March Air Force Base, asked the question.

He was speaking at the recent meeting of the San Mateo Chapter of the Air Force Association, and many of the answers were: "No."

General Wade asked if the crowd of 100 AFA members meeting at Villa Chartier, San Mateo, were aware that Reservists fly 35 per cent of all cargo missions flown by the Air Force, that they fly 70 per cent of all fire fighting missions, and even fly some Strategic Air Command missions.

Among the former Air Force members, and those who are friends of the Air Force, were a number of "No," answers, and some statements of "Yes."

General Wade, whose March Field unit is the first to combine reserve and regular Air Force members in a working Streategic Air Command Unit led by a Reservist, was enjoying his role as Master of Ceremonies for the evening.

He said Chapter President Angie Anderson had asked him to "be humorous."

"Who ever heard of a humorous general?" he asked, and whipped off his uniform jacket with its rows of ribbons and medals.

"For that matter, who ever heard of a humorous Indian?" he asked, sliding on a large silver and turquoise neckpiece which calls attention to his Choctaw ancestry.

Cool Reception for SSF Baseball Field Plan

A 12-point plan for the overhaul of and improvements to baseball fields in South San Francisco got a cold reception at the City Council meeting this week.

The plan, previously approved by the Parks and Recreation Commission, was criticized Wednesday by one councilman as being too costly. Council members chided the staff for giving them the report at the council meeting with no opportunity to study it first.

City Manager Ed Alario told the council that, if implemented, the 12-point plan would cost the city about $160,000 more than the amount appropriated in the 1975-76 capital improvements budget.

He said the new plan could offer an alternative to some items in the budget.

The intent, said Parks and Recreation Director Dick Milkovich, is to provide more effective long-range solutions to baseball playing field deficiencies.

"We've been playing games attempting to fix ball fields in a half-baked, piecemeal manner," Milkovich said.

Councilman Frank Mammini was the report's most severe critic.

He said if the council approves more money for baseball fields, other needs will suffer.

Mammini said the present council should not commit the ones that will take office March 2 to such an expenditure.

"If we approve this tonight, it will be the belief of everyone that it's going to become a reali$ity," Mammimi said. "I don't really know that this is a priority."

Mammini said the council often is criticized for spending money foolishly and it's time "we take a harder look."

The plan presented to the council and approved by the commission recommended eliminating all major reconstruction until the season is completed; installing new backstops at Orange Park softball field and using temporary bleachers; preparing and repairing Orange Park baseball field for the South San Francisco High School baseball program; preparing all fields for safe play by April 15; installing a new backstop intended for Orange Park at El Rancho and installing bleachers at Southwood originally scheduled for Orange Park softball field.

The plan also calls for regarding Buri Buri Park, Southwood School and Orange Park in August; building new restrooms at Buri Buri; building a new softball facility at Orange Memorial Park, and a new facility at either one of the high schools, city parks or property at Chestnut Street.

In the capital improvements budget, the City Council appropriated $120,000 for Orange Memorial Park redevelopment, including backstops and bleachers; $65,000 for Buri Buri Park development, including grading the infield; and, $40,000 for Southwood ball field completion.

Mammini suggested that the council put off any action on the recommendations until after a study The council echoed his The cuncil echoed his concern, but Mayor Richard Battaglia added that the city should take as much time as necessary to ready the fields for safe play.

Three Held in Burlingame Killing

Three men were to be arraigned at Central Judicial District Court this morning on charges of murder stemming from the death of a fourth man early Sunday in Burlingame, outside a tavern.

Police said Floyd Atkinson, 22, of Palo Alto, was found dead of deep lacerations to the throat and arm, in Hatch Lane, the alley to the rear of 261 California Drive, at 2 a.m.

Officers who had been called to the scene to quell a disturbance, arrested:

Gerald M. Richardson, 26, of San Francisco; Michael R. Gettle, 25, 837 Second Ave., San Bruno; and Terry L. Greenfield, 29, of 191 Allen Drive, San Bruno.

An official police statement said the three were "charged with suspicion of murder, and assault with intent to commit great bodily harm."

Police said they had been called to Bogart's Lounge, 261 California Drive, to end a disturbance.

Officer Gary Fleming reported that at least two separate assaults had taken place, and at least 50 persons were milling about.

Atkinson had been a patron of the cocktail lounge, said Officer Fleming, and became involved in an argument over his apparent interest in a motorcycle parked out front.

The resulting fight boiled out of the lounge and reached its peak on the sidewalks and parking lots surrounding the building, Police said.

During the brawl, a second man, Maurice Grace, 26, of Los Altos, was also assaulted, police report. He was treated at Peninsula Hospital, and released.

School Project 'Success'

By RICK SULLIVAN

The San Bruno Park School District's anti-vandalism program has been so successful that it has caught the attention of a major educational filmmaker.

Dr. Dave Parker, a San Mateo filmmaker who has distributed educational films nationally, currently is making a movie about the district's Project Pride program.

Over the past several weeks Dr. Parker and his crew have been filming at various San Bruno elementary schools.

The crew recently spent a day filming at John Muir School.

Project Pride is the brainchild of District Supt. William Jennings who launched the program some five years ago.

Jennings said the program has been so successful that it has reduced by half the amount of money the district had to spend on vandalism before the project was started.

Five years ago the district spent about $8,000 per year for repairs due to vandalism. This past year it spent $4,000.

Jenning's program has been adopted by school districts in Modesto and San Jose.

According to Jennings, the objective of Project Pride "is to instill in our students a feeling of pride in their schools, and to develop a sense of responsibility for maintaining and improving the quality of the schools."

Each district school is presented a Project Pride flag each year and this flag is flown from a flagpole every day the school is clean and free of vandalism. The flag is taken down on days the school is vandalized.

The district also presents a Project Pride trophy each month to a school in the district that reports no loss to vandalism.

District officials also give out Project Pride badges to students or groups of students who participate in school clean-up projects.

PETRINI'S CIOPPINO ITALIAN STYLE

2 med. carrots chopped fine, 1 bunch green onions — include part of tops — sliced, ⅓ cup chopped parsley, 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce, 1 puree can of water, 3 tsp. salt and ¼ tsp. pepper, 1/8 tsp. thyme, 2 dungeness crabs — preferably live*, 1 large onion, sliced, 1 lb. fresh prawns in shell, 2 large cloves garlic, ⅓ cup olive oil, 1 can (15 oz.) tomato puree, 1 tomato sauce can of white wine, 1 bay leaf, 1/8 tsp. rosemary, 1/8 tsp. basil, 2 stalks celery chopped fine, 2 dozen fresh clams in shell, 1½ lb. lean white fish, i.e., sea bass, halibut.

In large frying pan with cover, or in Dutch Oven, saute onion, green onions, celery, carrot and garlic in oil about 5 minutes. Add parsley, tomato puree and sauce, wine or the water, plus all the seasonings. Cover and simmer approx. 1 hr. Remove garlic. Clean and crack crab; arrange in large 8-quart pot. Scrub clams and add. Add prawns and fish fillets. Pour over the prepared sauce, cover and simmer about 15 minutes. Serve hot in large soup bowls with crusty French bread.

If using live crabs, add crab 15 minutes before adding prawns, clams and fish fillets. 6 to 8 servings.*

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

There are times dictated by finances or fancy when a meatless meal is the order of the day. When such a menu is in/catedor you, bake this attractive and delicious cheese and asparagus dish.

BAKED ASPARAGUS CHEESE SANDWICHES

1 package frozen asparagus (8 oz.) thawed
12 slices bread
12 slices Swiss cheese
4 eggs
2½ cups milk
¼ tsp. nutmeg
1 tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
1 Tbsp. finely chopped onion
½ cup shredded cheddar cheese

Thaw the eight ounces asparagus and, if the size of the spears warrants, cut them in half lengthwise.

Trim the crusts from the 12 slices of bread. Arrange six slices of bread in a buttered 9x13-inch baking dish; cover with six slices Swiss cheese; top each with two asparagus halves. (If you use fresh asparagus, it should be blanched a few minutes in boiling water.) Repeat the layers, dividing the remaining asparagus between the six sandwiches.

In a bowl, beat the four eggs until light, add the 2½ cups milk, ¼ tsp. nutmeg, one tsp. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper and one tbsp. chopped onion, blending thoroughly. Pour over the sandwiches, cover with foil and bake in a 350° oven for 25 minutes. Remove cover and sprinkle with the ½ cup shredded cheddar cheese. Return to oven and bake 10 to 15 minutes, or until the dish is set and the top golden brown.

Allow to stand 10 minutes, cut into six squares.

UNDER-THE-SEA-SALAD

1 package (3 oz.) lime gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 can (1 lb.) pear halves
¼ tsp. salt
1 Tbsp. lemon juice
2 packages (3 oz. each) cream cheese
⅛ tsp. ginger

Dissolve the package of gelatin and the salt in the cup boiling water. Drain the pears, measuring ¾ cup syrup; add water if necessary. Dice the pears and set aside. Add the pear syrup and lemon juice to gelatin. Measure 1¼ cups into a 1 quart mold. Chill until set, but not firm.

Meanwhile, soften six ounces cream cheese until creamy. Gradually add remaining gelatin, blending until smooth. Add the ginger. Chill until very thick. Fold in the pears. Spoon into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Makes about 4 cups or 8 side salads.

Affirmative Action Program Progress

San Mateo County is making progress in its affirmative action program, but there still are major problems in the under-utilization of women and in the under-representation of Spanish surname persons in county employ.

Ozzie Rodriguez, the county's affirmative action officer, reported that there is a concentration of women in clerical and paraprofessional positions. Women are under-represented in the administrative, technician, protective services, skilled crafts and service maintenance job categories, he said.

Rodriguez said that 239 positions are needed to achieve numerical parity of Spanish surname persons on the county payroll.

He noted that Spanish surname persons constitute 11.3 per cent of the county's population, but only 5.3 per cent of the county's employes.

On the other hand, Rodriguez said, black persons constitute 4.7 per cent of the county's population and 9.3 per cent of the county employes.

"How did this occur?" asked Supervisor John M. Ward.

"The blacks started a long time ago to push for equal opportunity employment," Rodriguez replied. "They are about 10 years ahead of us."

Rodriguez said that he "cannot divorce the fact I'm Mexican. It's difficult sometimes in management, but I'm here to carry out the policies of the board."

The affirmative action officer drew a laugh when he said that he occasionally has been called a "female pusher."

Rodriguez said that the county Civil Service Office is attempting to deal with the affirmative action problems.

It has established trainee classifications allowing women and minorities to enter fields which in the past have required specific experience as a minimum requirement.

Also, classification and test validation studies have been made to revise minimum qualifications and establish career ladders to facilitate entry and upward mobility.

Specialized recruitment efforts are being directed to deal with affirmative action problems, and Spanish speaking requirements are being instituted in classificatons which deal with the delivery of county services to Spanish speaking clientele, Rodriguez said.

He noted that the county is offering a career development seminar for women at Canada College. Last year, 190 women attended, and 150 are expected to attend this year.

"Even though we have made progress in the elimination of our affirmative action problems, we have still much to do," Rodriguez reported.

He said that one of the major problems are county charter provisions which establish the "rule of three" — the requirement that a candidate for appointment or advancement be selected from among the highest three candidates in an examination — and the restriction of the length of eligibility lists.

County Manager M. D. Tarshes warned that no substantial changes in the situation can be expected overnight.

"We're not going to have vacancies over a short period of time to make changes," he said.

Rodriguez reported that the county embarked on a five-year affirmative action on program in April, 1975, and that it is planned to revise the plan yearly to meet "short term goals."

County department heads are being asked to assess their own affirmative action problems. He is in the process of consolidating all of the departmental affirmative action plans into a master plan which will be completed within 30 days, Rodriguez reported.

James Forrest, executive officer for the County Human Relations Commission, commended the county for "setting out and establishing an affirmative action program without federal government intervention."

Supervisor Edward J. Bacciocco Jr. said he believes it is a display of "evidence of good faith" on the part of the county to "get in the system and to progress."

Crocker Hills Builder DenouncesCityCouncil

Robert L. Follett, general manager of the proposed Crocker Hills development adjacent to San Bruno Mountain, recently called the scheme by the City of Brisbane to purchase portions of the Crocker Hills property is ludicrous.

"The Brisbane City Council continues to advance the fairytale that they can raise $5 million by annexing the Crocker Industrial Park, despite the fact that they have been told repeatedly that the owner of the industrial park — Crocker Land Co. — has no intention of allowing annexation," Follet said.

DC Performance for 'Rainbow Players'

"The Rainbow Players" of Project Survival will be performing at Serramonte Shopping Center Feb. 16.

Their performance of "Noah and the Ark '76" will begin at noon and continue every two hours throughout the day.

Members of the company are mainly college students who have taken leaves of absence from their studies to become involved.

Traveling throughout California in their rainbow painted Volkswagen bus, they present their musical skits in parks, shopping centers, campuses and places where people can gather.

Founder's Day Program Set

The Garden Village PTA in Daly City-Colma will present its annual Founder's Day program Feb. 19 at 7:30 p.m.

The program will include presentation of Honorary Service Awards and entertainment provided by St. Peters Pipe and Drum Band from Explorer Post 90.

Following the program refreshments will be served and the historian's books will be displayed.

Committee members planning the event include: Mrs. Glenn Ullom, chairwoman; Mrs. Ray Farnsworth, president; Mrs. Charles Fleischer, Mrs. Gerald Biagini, Mrs. John Zucca, and Mrs. George Pappas.

A Special Series at Serramonte

By KATHERINE MILANI
Post Correspondent

Serramonte High School's girls physical education department recently offered five special presentations, one each day, to all girls in the physical education program.

The presentation on Monday was a "Personal Defense and Rape" discussion led by N. Gowenetche from the Crime Prevention Unit; R. Jordan, member of a local police department, and L. Treadway, one of the girls' physical education teachers at Serramonte.

The discussions included demonstrations of emergency moves and techniques and the legal aspects involved in rape and molestation cases.

TUESDAY'S presentation was titled "Weight Loss and Nutrition," and was led by G. Brown, a nutritionist involved in the University of California's Cooperative Extension.

This discussion included the water diet, the effect of exercising for weight loss and the dangers of taking weight loss pills if not prescribed by a doctor.

On Wednesday Lt. Tom Culley of the Daly City Police Department's Juvenile Division led that day's discussion entitled "Your Legal Rights as a Minor." Attorney Freitas answered legal questions about legal rights of minors and Cheryl Knox, a social science teacher at Serramonte, also contributed to the discussion.

"ALCOHOLISM" was Thursday's topic, and D. Baccala, R.N., and a volunteer from the National Council on Alcoholism led the discussion.

Causes of alcohol addiction were examined and the psychological and physical problems involved with extreme alcohol usage were explained.

Friday's topic was "Keeping Your Head Together," directed by M. Copney, R.N., and A. Toles, a psychiatric social worker and coordinator of adolescent services.

Many aspects of mental health were explored, such as suicide, drug addiction, running away from home and dropping out of school.

Serramonte's Girls PE Department teachers hope that this week's presentations were helpful and interesting to the students, and that this week's attitudes toward the presentations were examples for more discussions later in the year.

ALL READY
Preparing for their annual Rummage Sale at Our Lady of Mercy Parish are (pictured left to right) Jenny Lester, Edie McEntee, Ann Hulsmann, John Fernando, Ann Hulsman, Francine Lester, Sheila Savage, Daisy Fernando, Jenny Fernando and Terri Curran. The sale will be held on Friday, Feb. 27 and Saturday, Feb. 28 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Louanne Heath

Mr. and Mrs. John McVeigh of Daly City accepting last minute reservations for a bicentennial year look at the history of the Bay Area.

The McVeighs are in charge of reservations for a dinner being sponsored by the Harborlighters of Lakeside Presbyterian Church this Friday.

Tom Harrison, a social science teacher at Lowell High School, will present his collection of slides made from historical pictures of this area and William Best will sing a number of appropriate solos. The program will follow a dinner which will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the social hall of the church.

For reservations or to find out more about this interesting and educational evening call the McVeighs, 756-1853, today.

IF YOU ARE GOING to make any additions to your spring wardrobe, (and who isn't after the preview peek at the great new styles during the Our Lady of Mercy fashion show last weekend?) then this is the season to do some closet cleaning.

Naturally enough, it is the Westlake Catholic Women of Our Lady of Mercy who are sponsoring a drive for useable rummage to be sold at a sale the end of this month.

Clean, usable clothing, books, records, bric-a-brac, electrical appliances and furniture are needed for the sale and members of the committee will be on hand to accept donations each Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. in the Our Lady of Mercy Parish Hall.

and her co-chairman is Mrs. Julian Fernando. Members of the committee will be happy to receive rummage as quickly as possible to allow more time for sorting and pricing.

Donors may arrange for pick-up service by calling Mrs. McEntee, 992-3983 or by calling 756-0094. The sale will be held on Feb. 27-28 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

American Conservatory Theater

Demand Is High

Owing to a phenomenal demand for tickets, the American Conservatory Theater has added nine extra performances to its repertory calendar for March and April. Seating is now available in all price ranges for these special dates.

In addition "The Matchmaker," a highly popular early entry in the repertory, will return to the Geary for two performances, at 8:30 p.m. April 10 and 19.

The late Thornton Wilder's romantic farce was directed by Laird Williamson with Elizabeth Huddle and William Paterson, respectively, as the title character and her prey.

"The Merry Wives of Windsor," a bawdy Shakespearean romp with Ray Reinhardt as the indomitable Falstaff under Jon Jory's direction, will be presented March 1 at 8:30 p.m. in addition to the scheduled subscription performances.

Peter Shaffer's "Equus," staged by William Ball with Peter Donat and Daniel Zippi in the leading roles, will be given five extra showings at 8:30 p.m. March 15, April 2, 5 and 17 and at 2:30 p.m. April 21.

The psychological thriller, winner of more awards than any other play on Broadway, opens Feb. 10.

"Peter Gynt," an early lyric fantasy by Henrik Ibsen in a new translation from the Norwegian by director Allen Fletcher, will have a single nonsubscription performance at 7:30 p.m. April 23.

This unique and seldom produced play, unconventional in length as well as structure, will have early curtain times of 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. for all performances.

The story of the great folk hero and his fabulous journey through the world continues Fletcher's highly successful series of enduring works by the father of modern drama. One of the largest productions in ACT history, with 49 actors and 32 scenes, "Peer Gynt" joins the repertory at the Geary March 9.

The final offering of the company's tenth anniversary season is the revival of Ball's award-winning commedia-dell'arte production of "The Taming of the Shrew" opening March 30. The 1975-76 season in San Francisco continues through mid-May.

Tickets for all ACT repertory productions and "El Grande de Coca Cola," the company's current Marines' Memorial Theatre presentation, are on sale daily at the Geary Theater box office and all agencies. Telephone information is available by calling (415) 673-6440.

PUT A BIG, RED circle around Feb. 18, and plan to be in the Little Theater at Serramonte High School by 8 p.m. to hear Toni St. James, the "Dynamite Lady" who teaches job search workshops for the California Employment Development Department's Mission Center and appears regularly on radio station KGO with her talks on how to find a job, what the skills are, where jobs are going to be located and how to make career choices.

Ms. St. James, whose appearance is being sponsored by the Serramonte Parents Association, says that the first 17 to 22 minutes of her classes have pyrotechnics to get the group involved and those who know say she delivers with so much "dynamite" that nearly everyone in the room is shaken right out of her/his seat.

Finding a job is a skill that has to be learned, according to Ms. St. James and she is determined to teach anyone willing to come and listen to what she has to say.

Mrs. Alvin Schwarzbach of the parent's group emphasized that this gathering is planned as an aid for all young people and their parents and that students from any of the areas high schools are invited to attend, with or without their families, so that Ms. St. James can share expertise with as many people as possible.

MRS. EVE AIELLO of the Hillside Homeowner's Improvement Association is accepting calls for reservations to that group's annual Installation of Officers and dinner-dance which will be held Feb. 28 in the Italian American Social Club on Russia Avenue in San Francisco.

The Spirit of '76 will be the evening's theme and Assemblyman Louis Papan will be the installing officer. Anthony Aiello will be in charge of the evening's program. Working on the arrangements for the evening are the Aiello family, Mrs. Marie Loretta, Mrs. Sarah Dodge, Mrs. Karla Evans, Mrs. Thelma Cranna, Mrs. Pegi Brandley and Mrs. Gloria Brady. General chairman is Mrs. Millie Dunow.

IF YOU ARE wondering who won those door prizes at the Boutique sponsored by the Mary's Help Hospital Guild, the winners were Butch Baker, Harold Benenson, Mrs. Jay Hoffmier, John Camaioni, Mrs. Vera Forte, Mrs. Rita Blasi, Mrs. Macy McCoy, Jose Accurso, Mrs. Virginia Stanghellini and John Daumler.

MEMBERS OF THE Daly City Friends of the Library heard Building Fund Chairman Alvin Schwarzbach recently announce that several large donations have been received during the past few weeks. Donations have been made by the Westlake Associates, the Gellert Foundation, and the San Mateo Foundation. To date the committee has accepted contributions amounting to $8,500.

Working with chairman Schwarzbach are committee members Mrs. Monte Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Teglia and Emmett Tierney.

King of Trash Shows Off

Members of four Bay Area bottle clubs will join to produce the San Francisco Area Combined Bottle Collectors Show and Sale at the San Mateo County Fairgrounds Feb. 14 and 15.

Hours will be 9-5 p.m. Saturday and 9-4 Sunday, with admission and parking free.

The enduring glass bottle is undisputed king of the trash heap. Local collectors will show the fragile handblown and pontiled souvenirs of the Gold Rush days found in bay mud, privies and excavations.

History buffs may ponder over the inscriptions of the embossed bottles on display listing maker, contents and locale.

It's a perfect way to discover that there was a liberated female in early Menlo Park, as indicated by the inscription "Mrs. M. E. Selzer, Dispensing Chemist, Menlo Park, Cal."

Rare whiskies, inks, bitters, sodas and food bottles will be incorporated into informative displays showing the history of glass in the United States. Sale tables will offer not only antique bottles, but a strange collection of buttons, doll parts, china, pottery and other items found in the search for treasured glass.

This show of historic bottles, approved by San Mateo County's American Revolution Bicentennial Committee, will be the largest ever presented in California, with participants from many states.

Co-sponsored by the Golden Gate Historical Bottle Society, Alameda County; the Northwestern Bottle Collectors Association, Santa Rosa; Peninsula Bottle Collectors, Inc., San Mateo County; and the San Jose Antique Bottle Collectors Association; the show will host the Annual Convention of the Western Region of the Federation of Historical Bottle Clubs.

'Mini-gallery' Opens in Area

"Sundance Gallery," the fourth "mini-gallery" operated on the San Francisco Peninsula by the San Mateo County Arts Council, recently opened to the public at Hughes Airwest's international headquarters adjacent to the College of San Mateo in San Mateo.

Sundance is the first gallery not located in a publicly owned or operated building and is provided by the airline as a community service.

Hughes Airwest, with the local Arts Council has co-sponsored shows and exchanges carried on arts programs of its own and sponsored showings at its international headquarters.

In 1973 the company sponsored an art competition in Guadalajara, Jolisco, Mexico, in cooperation with the Jalisco Department of Fine Arts. Winners in art of that competition were brought to the United States and displayed for seven months on the Peninsula. Some of these works have become the foundation of the airlines permanent collection.

In 1974, Hughes assisted the Arts Council in bringing the "Contemporary Art of Jalisco, Mexico" to the County and it is being exhibited throughout the United States in Western Association of Art museums.

Sundance Gallery will be operated by the Arts Council under the direction of Bill Nemoyten, executive director, and Marion Mendelson, gallery coordinator, with the guidance of the Council's gallery committee.

The gallery will be open to the public from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. Exhibits will change each month.

Serigraphs by Richard Fiscus and Toby Klayman, Bay Area artists, will be displayed at Sundance Gallery through Feb. 13.

The Ctuncil's three other galleries are in Daly City's Civic Center, in the San Mateo County Government Center in Redwood City, and in the Arts Council's headquarters at the historic Sunshine cottage on Borel Ave., in San Mateo.

CARE Guatemala Assist

CARE, the international relief and development agency, already serving in Guatemala, is distributing many kinds of relief supplies to the victims of the devastating earthquake that struck the Central American country.

Initial supplies, already being distributed are food commodities such as wheat soy blend, bulgar wheat, milk powder, cooking oil, beans and corn.

Five thousand blankets have been forwarded from Honduras to Guatemala and 4,400 blankets are being shipped by air to CARE Guatemala today from emergency distributions.

CARE has operated in Guatemala since 1954 and its programs include feeding, agricultural and community development.

Concerned citizens may send money contributions to CARE, Guatemala Earthquake Fund, 690 Market St., San Francisco 94104.

Sign-ups Scheduled

Skyline College spring registration for on-campus and off-campus classes will continue until Feb. 17 for day classes, Feb. 18 for evening classes, and Feb. 21 for Saturday classes.

Interested San Mateo County residents and students are urged to register as soon as possible as registration for classes is done on a first-come, first-served basis.

Prospective students also should send for their high school and college transcripts.

Registration for classes takes place on Mondays and Fridays between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Mondays and Thursdays from 6 to 9 p.m., and Saturdays from 8 a.m. to noon.

For further information call Skyline College at 355-7000, extension 251.

Postmaster Leaves

San Bruno Postmaster Donald Risso has been assigned to take over postmaster duties in the city of Vallejo, it was announced last week.

Risso, who has been San Bruno's postmaster for the past 11 years, was notified of the new assignment last Jan. 27, and on Feb. 2 he reported to work in Vallejo.

San Bruno Assistant Postmaster Oliver Kemp said Risso recently had applied for assignment in Vallejo.

Risso's transfer came as a surprise to some city residents, since he recently had been granted a long-standing request that the U.S. Postal Service construct a new and larger San Bruno Post Office.

The Vallejo office handles much more mail than the San Bruno office. So, the reassignment is considered a promotion.

San Bruno's new post office will be built sometime this year near the Tanforan Park Shopping Center.

Kemp said the Postal Service has assigned Max S. Dennis as officer in charge of the San Bruno Post Office. He will perform postmaster duties until a permanent postmaster is appointed.

The Postal Service, Kemp said, soon will make a formal announcement of a postmaster opening in San Bruno.

Risso currently is commuting to work in Vallejo but said he plans to move his family there in perhaps two months.

Risso has been a resident of San Bruno for the past 35 years.

He was the Chamber of Commerce manager from 1948 to 1950, purchased Mills Park Market and then Roma's Delicatessen.

He served 12 years on the City Council and was twice elected mayor during his years as a businessman.

In 1964, Risso was named San Bruno postmaster, "at a time," he said, "when postmaster appointments were political."

"Years ago," Risso said, "city postmasters were appointed based on their community involvement. Now they are selected from within the postal service."

Of his assignment to Vallejo, Risso commented: "I hate to leave San Bruno. It's tough to pull up one's roots, but I had the opportunity to take a position in a larger office and I took it."

The Vallejo office, Risso said, is twice the size of the San Bruno office and serves 100,000 residents.

Scouts Present Play

"Knights in Shining Armour," a puppet show written, produced and directed by Mike Siebert, leader of Serra District Scout Den 2, was presented to Vista Mar Pack 362 at their January meeting.

Mike Burke played the king, Denny Siebert was Sir Lancelot, Gene Smith played the first Cub Scout ever — Squire Gino, Chris Thompson was the damsel and Darren Smith was the dragon. The boys made their own puppets and costumes.

Genius kits were distributed.

Softball practice, under the guidance of athletic director Gene Smith, has begun and is being held every Wednesday and Saturday.

Obedience Champ

An Unwanted Puppy Wins Top Award

By JANET PARKER

Three years ago, Peter Arestis brought home a scrawny but healthy German shepherd puppy from the Peninsula Humane Society to serve as a companion during an illness.

His wife, Lanbrini had been bitten by a German shepherd as a child, and wanted nothing to do with the animal.

But this week, both Mr. and Mrs. Arestis, who live on Avalon Drive, are boasting all over South San Francisco about their award-winning canine.

The "Duchess of Avalon" was top dog in obedience at the Golden Gate Kennel Club Dog Show at the Cow Palace Jan. 31 and Feb. 1. It's considered one of the most prestigious dog shows in the country.

She competed against 107 dogs of all breeds, many with impressive ancestries, to win the honor.

The Duchess, however, was just an abandoned, unwanted puppy left at the county shelter before Arestis adopted her.

It was the first time a Novice A dog, the least experienced of obedience canines, won the overall competition in many years, Arestis said.

Arestis never intended to have an obedience trained dog. He planned instead for a small dog such as a poodle to sit on his lap while he watched television.

But he couldn't resist the German shepherd puppy. He brought it home and told his wife it was a toy shepherd and it wouldn't grow very big.

Arestis was concerned, however, about the dog playing with his grandchildren, nephews and neighborhood youngsters.

That's when he decided to start taking Duchess to the San Bruno Dog Obedience School for Dogs at Allen School on Saturdays.

Duchess graduated fifth in her class. Arestis felt at ease when children played with the dog.

"I didn't want a mean dog," he said. "But then there aren't mean dogs. Just dumb owners."

Obedience training is team work between dog and handler, he said. Each has to understand the other.

He entered the Duchess in a few "fun matches." They are regulated but not recorded by the American Kennel Club.

With a little experience under their belts, the twosome entered several official contests but weren't always successful.

At a Livermore contest Jan. 17, Arestis and the Duchess were in the ring when an error by Arestis caused their elimination. Because he was so proud of his dog for following a command, he said, "Thata girl, come on." The judge disqualified them for the "double command."

Another time, he was in the ring with Duchess when a woman in the next ring directed her dog to "come." Unfortunately, Duchess also responded and they were disqualified.

The Novice A obedience drill includes heeling off leash, healing on leash, a figure-eight walk, standing for examination, a one-minute sit and a three-minute sit.

Man and dog work on drills only about 15 minutes a day. Any more would take the fun out of the training, he said.

Arestis enjoys showing off mementos from the competitions and happily discusses successes as well as failures. "I love to brag about that dog," he said.

Their next competition is Feb. 15.

He admits he was lucky when he picked Duchess among the dogs at the Humane Society. Many stray dogs, he said, would be difficult to train for obedience because of bad experiences with humans in the past.

Many trainers, he said, argue that obedience dogs should be purchased only from a reputable breeder. "It doesn't hurt to help some poor stray that has had a bad time," Arestis contends.

'SOUVENIRS' DEBUT IS ANOTHER BALLET JEWEL

The San Francisco Ballet company followed its opening week's fireworks with a second program of four works that were varied and masterfully danced. If the second week's repertoire didn't reach the dynamic intensity of Michael Smuin's "Romeo and Juliet" spectacle, it at least kept the audience in a high state of anticipation with another premiere ballet, "Souvenirs," by the celebrated American choreographer Todd Bolender.

The ballet is an amusing collection of encounters and involvements set in the time before World War I, about 1913, in a resort hotel that might have flourished then in Newport, Southampton or Atlantic City. The fashionables flirt, mingle, dance (marvelous recreation of the tango and the Lindy), dine, drink, play musical beds, seduce, gossipp swim at the beach, frolic on the sand and play amorous games behind screens and closed doors.

It's grand fun and Rouben Ter-Arutunian's costumes and sets evoke the decor and fashion we now only see in Pola Negri silent films. Rudolph Valentino posters and tinted postcards from a madcap holiday. Bolender created this work in 1955 for the New York City Ballet and came to San Francisco to see the delight with which his piece was received on Tuesday night.

Samuel Barber's score doesn't have the rinky-tink quality you'd think such a recreation of the period might inspire. His rhythms are on the bouncy side and affect an authentic air by his use of popular dance music styles of the 1900's. The dancers acted out their sequence of six vignettes as if from memory, an affectionate and personal glance on which many in the audience will impose their own favorite musical selections.

The entire company appears to be involved, but those who captured the audience's attention in humorous skits were Madeleine Bouchard with Damara Bennett and Stephanie Jones as three wallflowers; Tina Santos and Atilla Ficzere as the vamp and gigolo, respectively, who slink and cavort in high fashion.

"Souvenirs" is a welcome addition to the season and full of high spirited dance-mime that will please the young set as well as those who might have similar souvenir memories from their past.

"Variations De Ballet" which George Balanchine and Lew Christensen wrote in 1960 to the melodic and sweeping score by Glazounov opened the evening. Ter-Arutunian's costumes again enhanced the work. The breezy, traditional work with its preamble, adagio, waltz, male and lady's variations, coda and finale had its high moments when Betsy Erickson and Vane Vest were paired and Lynda Meyer and Gary Wahl took their turns at solo and duet steps.

The sculptured imagery of "Eternal Idol" which Smuin conceived in 1969 as a tribute to Rodin featuring Roy Bogas as piano soloist to Chopin's haunting music is a sensual work that pleasingly follows the contours of two bodies draped and shaped on the curve and pockets of a large boulder in the middle of the stage. Madeleleine Bouchard and Atilla Ficzere seem moved to ecstatic passion in their interpretation. But since the piece never reaches a conclusive climax, the brevity of this almost erotic ballet makes it seem to be part of a larger work, which it isn't.

It is successful in hewing a human element out of a block of stone, the dancers being the personification of life that an artist molds from the inanimate shapeless matter. In this context, it is emotionally satisfying.

Ming Cho Lee's four elaborate sets for Lew Christensen's 1973 version of "Don Juan" dominate the Opera House stage and provide a detailed framework through which this superficial interpretation of the Spanish classic performs its masquerade.

Ficzere's tragic Don is played as a swaggering, flamboyant, male chauvinist vulgarized by Christensen. There is nothing courtly in his arrogance as he lifts skirts, brazenly seduces other men's wives and attempts to rape a nun who flees the convent in a state of anguish and undress.

I like the black and purple costumes by Jose Varona better than the choreography which has a nice ensemble feeling but no outstanding solo bits worth mentioning.

Language Bank Offers Translating Service

Language Bank is a service offered by the Red Cross to non-English speaking persons living in or visiting San Mateo County.

Volunteers with speaking and writing knowledge of a foreign language remain on call to assist in any emergency situation where a translator is needed.

The number of calls for language bank services has greatly increased from local hospitals. San Francisco International Airport, local government and law enforcement agencies and others in San Mateo County who deal with foreign-speaking persons.

To meet this expanded number of requests for translators, a Language Bank volunteer coordinator, Mrs. William G. Werle, has been selected for central and northern San Mateo County.

Mrs. Werle can be reached at the Burlingame Red Cross office, 343-4561 to volunteer a translator or for Language Bank translation service round-the-clock.

13 Sister City Ties Announced

By LIN DAY

Thirteen San Mateo County communities have agreed to become sister cities to as many cities in the original 13 colonies, it was announced last week at a meeting of representatives of the involved communities at the San Mateo Fairgrounds.

Additionally, two more cities are in negotiation with other cities in the original colonies and there is a possibility that at least one other city may become involved.

Presently, every colony (now state) except Virginia and Georgia is being approached.

San Bruno is approaching cities in both Maine and New Hampshire and may develop a sister city relationship with communities in both states, according to a reliable source. He pointed out that Maine was very active, as part of Massachusettes, in the Revolution.

Most of the cities have firmed up their "bridge across the nation" with official resolutions of the cities' councils.

The cities, and their selected sisters, are: Belmont — Belmont, Mass.; Brisbane — Lewes, Del.; Burlingame — New London, Conn.; Daly City — Providence, R.I.; Foster City — Middleboro, Mass.; Half Moon Bay — Beaufort, S.C.; Menlo Park — Lawrence Township, N.J.

Also, Millbrae — Ipswich, Mass. (tentative to expected Ipswich agreement;) Pacifica — Wilmington, N.C.; Redwood City — Annapolis, Md.; San Carlos — Bennington, Vt.; San Mateo — York, Pa.; and South San Francisco — Philadelphia, Pa.

Woodside is discussing a relationship with a city in New York State with a rich Revolutionary War history.

Virginia and Georgia were originally selected by two cities. One chose another city after being unable to get a firmed-up agreement over a period of months despite "a lot of lovely Virginia hospitality" by phone and letter.

The program climaxed with the affiliation of South San Francisco with Philadelphia, center of the bicentennial celebration both in 1876 and today.

At last week's meeting, County Fair manager Sal Milan outlined plans for the bicentennial county fair this year which will include extensive recognition of the sister cities in the original colonies.

Milan said that representative plantings of flowers and other plantings from the original colonies will be prominent at the fairgrounds and that after the fair they will be replanted along Delaware Avenue.

He contemplated also an avenue of flags of the sister cities and/or their colonial flags at the Fair.

Also discussed were development of school contacts with the sister cities.

Six Locations for Rabies Shots

Rabies shot clinics for dogs and cats will be held at six locations in San Mateo County Sunday, Feb. 22 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Ernest Takahashi of the Department of Health and Welfare said that the department's Public Health Division and local veterinarians are joining in the program which will offer rabies shots at $3 each.

Takahashi said that all dogs and cats four months and older should be vaccinated against rabies, and the shot should be repeated every two years.

He also requested that pets brought to the clinics be under full control of their owners.

The vaccination clinics will be held at the following locations:

Pacifica — Linda Mar rest area, Highway 1.

South San Francisco — District Health Center, 1024 Mission Road.

Millbrae — Community Recreation Center, 477 Lincoln Circle.

San Mateo — Health and Welfare building, 225 W. 37th Ave.

Redwood City — Fire station, Middlefield Road near Jefferson Avenue.

Menlo Park — Fire station, 300 Middlefield Road.

Aide Firing Is Upheld

The San Mateo County Civil Service Commission Friday upheld the opinion of a state administrative law judge affirming the firing of Robert F. Cawley, a former coroner's investigator.

Cawley was fired Feb. 6, 1973, following an incident in which a $500 check was reported stolen from the effects of a dead man. Cawley's criminal conviction on charges of conspiracy to commit forgery was overturned by the District Court of Appeal.

His appeal to get his job back, along with some $42,000 in back pay, was rejected.

Bicentennial Backing Ends

A March 31 cutoff date has been set by the American Revolution Bicentennial Committee of San Mateo County for applying for endorsements.

The Program Endorsement Policy was established nearly two years ago to review and give official recognition to countywide bicentennial projects. Since that time over 45 projects have been considered, 10 have been recognized, 38 have been approved and 15 have been sponsored.

Countywide bicentennial projects are encouraged to apply for endorsement before March 31st. Application forms and information may be obtained from the Bicentennial Office, 574-1976.

THE MARK NORELLS
(Karen Enevold)

Couples Exchange Vows

Enevold-Norell

Lake Tahoe was the honeymoon destination of Mark Carter Norell and his bride, the former Karen Margaret Enevold, who exchanged vows at Little Brown Church in Pacifica and are living now in Daly City.

The Rev. H. D. Horkins performed the noon ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Esbern Enevold of Pacifica, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claud H. Norell of Hayward. After the rites, the newlyweds greeted well-wishers at a reception at the El Rancho Restaurant in Millbrae.

When the bride said her vows, she was dressed in a white satin and lace gown detailed with small clusters of seed pearls. Her attendants wore polyester dresses with velvet jackets and picture hats.

Jodi Powell of Pacifica, the maid of honor, was dressed in pink and ruby red, and Kathy Enevold of Pacifica, the bride's sister, and Cathy O'Leary of Pacifica, performed their bridesmaid duties in light blue and royal blue outfits.

Mark asked his brother-in-law, Michael O. Bowers of Union City, to serve as best man. The bride's brother, Karl Enevold of Pacifica, seated guests with Art Kirkpatrick, also of Pacifica.

A Terra Nova High School graduate, the new Mrs. Norell is now attending the College of San Mateo where she is studying nursing. She is also the sister of Kristina Enevold of Pacifica.

Mark studied at Tennyson High School in Hayward and Alameda College and is now employed as a deisel mechanic in the East Bay. Sue Bowers of Union City and Carol Norell of Hayward are his sisters.

Day-Urroz

Elizabeth Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Day of Daly City, recently became the bride of Fernando Urroz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luis Urroz of San Francisco. Mrs. Urroz made the bridal gown.

The couple exchanged vows during a nuptial Mass at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in Daly City. The Rev. Fred Bitanga officiated.

Veronica Mar served as the maid of honor, and bridesmaids included Leslie Connors, Jennifer Choroski, Mary McCann and Michele Vaurs.

Best man duties were performed by Luis Urroz, and guests were seated by Jessie Ortiz, Guy Phillips, Steven Rose and Patrick Walsh.

Tiffany Sargis served as the flower girl, and William Sargis carried the rings. Rounding out the list of attendants was Jose Arana, who acted as coin bearer.

After the double ring ceremony, the newlyweds greeted well-wishers at a reception at Hope Lutheran Hall in Daly City.

A graduate of Mercy High School, the bride is now attending City College of San Francisco and working in Daly City. Her husband majored in hotel and restaurant management at his alma mater, City College of San Francisco, and is now employed by a leading restaurant in San Francisco.

The newlyweds will be making their first home in Daly City.

Valentine Ball Set

Final plans are now being made for the seventh annual Beta Sigma Phi Northern Peninsula Inter-City Council Valentine Ball which will take place a week from today at the South San Francisco Women's Club.

During the 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. event, a Valentine queen will be chosen from among the five princesses local chapters have elected. The evening will include music by Chet Russell and a late buffet.

The queen candidates include the following:

HONORED

LINDA CONNELLY . . . Belongs to Delta Alpha Theta, having ransferred to the group from Tau Gamma in Pacifica . . . Has held many chapter offices and is serving as vice president this year . . . Is the mother of a year-old son.

JANE GOTELLI . . . An affiliate of Nu Sigma, she has belonged to Beta Sigma Phi for the past 13 years . . . Is now serving as treasurer of the council . . . She and her husband, a Daly City teacher, have two children . . . Also lists membership with the Girl Scouts, 4-H, and church groups.

JOYCE AMSDEN . . . The mother of a 5-year-old girl, she works as an office manager for a San Carlos firm . . . Joined Xi Rho Zeta chapter last year and is now serving as its corresponding secretary.

WILLY CLENDENON . . . A native of Holland, she has lived in California since 1957 . . . She lists membership with Xi Lambda Sigma chapter and is presently acting as its president . . . Also works as a secretary in South San Francisco.

Service Station Robbed

A youth armed with a pocketknife held up Jim's Union Station, 901 Airport Blvd., South San Francisco, shortly after 9:30 p.m. Thursday.

Police described the youth as being, white, 18 years old, 5 feet 9 and weighing 170 pounds. They said he was wearing blue jeans, a blue jacket and was masked with a red scarf.

He allegedly forced the 17-year-old attendant to open a floor safe inside the garage.

"Don't get excited. Just give me your money," the robber reportedly said.

The suspect fled on foot after taking about $300, police said.

Meanwhile, at 9:25 p.m., a youth simulating a gun tried to hold up the Spruce Drive-in Theater in South San Francisco, but ran off after the unidentified teenage girl attendant refused to give him any money.

The youth, also described as being 18 years old, put his hand in a jacket pocket and ordered the theater box office attendant to "Give me all your money before I count to three."

The girl refused and the "guman" ran off.

Washington, Lincoln Birthdays

Five-Day Holiday for Many

Because of an unusual combination of Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays this bicentennial year, many employes in both the public and private sectors will be given a five-day holiday from Feb. 12 through 16.

All school districts in the county with the exception of three — Ravenswood, Bayshore and Brisbane — Have declared Friday, Feb. 13, an official holiday.

According to Commissioner Glen Craig of the California Highway Patrol, all available officers will be kept on duty "because we are anticipating a heavy volume of traffic during the holiday, particularly if weather conditions are good.

"We may see a pattern of traffic peaks at the beginning of the five-day period and then again Saturday at the beginning of the three-day weekend, with both groups returning Monday afternoon and evening," he said. "The Patrol will be out in maximum strength in an effort to prevent accidents and make driving as safe as possible."

Craig said the holiday will begin officially at 6 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 11, and end at midnight Monday, Feb. 16.

Because the five-day holiday is such an unusual occurrence, the CHP has not comparative fatality figures from previous years, although 44 persons were killed in accidents during the six d4lays between Lincoln's birthday and Washington's birthdays last year.

Family Has 3 Chiropractors

There are now three chiropractors in the Nelson family of Burlingame.

Only recently, Dr. William A. Nelson of 3045 Rivera Drive, had a very special surprise. He not only was the principal speaker at the commencement exercises at the Los Angeles College of Chiropractic Medicine in Glendale, but he also was invited to confer the degree of Doctor of Chiropractic upon his second son, now Dr. Kim Robert Nelson.

Dr. and Mrs. Nelson flew to Southern California to participate in the commencement exercises. Accompanying them were their two other sons, Dr. Donald W. Nelson, the second chiropractor in the family, who practices in Menlo Park. Another son, Peter E. Nelson is a student at the University of California at Santa Cruz.

Mrs. Nelson commented, "So far, it appears he is the only one who may not become a chiropractor. His interests are in math and physics."

Shortly after the family's return from Southern California, Dr. Donald W. Nelson was installed as president of the San Mateo County Chiropractic society, adding to the family honors.

The senior Dr. Nelson is a Fellow in the International College of Chiropractics.

POLICEMAN

SAN ANTONIO — Airman Frederick J. Marotta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver D. Marotta of 485 Cedar Ave., San Bruno, has graduated at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Car Rolls On, Right Into Bay

Two young men were arrested by Burlingame police over the weekend on charges of stealing a car and driving into the Bay.

John R. Lawrence, and Joseph J. Wade, both 21 and both with temporary local addresses, are charged with having stolen the car from the parking lot at the Airport Marina Hotel, 1380 Bayshore Highway, driving it northward until they panicked at the sound of an approaching fire truck, and turned off the highway into the Vagabond Motel, 1650 Bayshore.

Police were called by witnesses who said the two young men piled out of the car while it was still moving, and ran behind a nearby restaurant while the car continued into the Bay.

Firemen said the call they were answering turned out to be a false alarm.

Guard Helps in Arrest

A security guard at a Daly City apartment complex is credited with aiding police in the arrest of a man wanted in connection with the holdup of a cab driver Saturday night.

John Wortman, a private security guard at the Crown Colony apartment complex on Hickey Boulevard, saw a man matching the description of a person wanted by police in the armed robbery of Yellow Cab Co. driver Gary Goodwin.

Goodwin was held up at about 10 p.m. Saturday by a man he picked up at the Crown Colony apartments, drove to what turned out to be a fictitious address in South San Francisco, and returned to the apartment complex.

It was on returning to the apartment area that the man allegedly held up Goodwin at knifepoint and then fled on foot with an undisclosed amount of money.

Armed with a description of the man, police and security guards combed the apartment area.

Following the unsuccessful search, Wortman stopped off at a nearby pizza parlor on his way home. It was then he spotted the man, police said.

Wortman called police, and Sgt. Steve Steen followed the man from the pizza parlor and stopped him on Hickey Boulevard.

Arrested and charged with armed robbery was Carl Hall, 25, of San Francisco.

Then Another Car Sinks in Lagoon

A car with two men inside plunged into the lagoon adjacent to the Foster City Recreation Center, but both men managed to climb out and swim to shore.

The driver of the vehicle, Milt Kastner, 48, of San Mateo, and a passenger, Thomas Ward of Redwood City, told police Friday the auto suddenly slid into the lagoon as they attempted to turn around at the rear of the Recreation Center.

As the men swam ashore, the vehicle floated temporarily before sinking to the bottom of the 20-foot-deep lagoon.

A diver from the sheriff's office attached a cable to the sunken auto, which was hoisted out of the lagoon by a tow truck.

Concerts Set by Society

The San Mateo County Chamber Music Society has announced its 1976 season of concerts commemorating the bicentennial year with a musical retrospective covering more than two centures of music in the Western tradition in America.

The society's musical director, Helen Beyer, has planned the four concert retrospective to reflect four stages in America's music making. The four concerts are entitled: "Music At Jefferson's Monticello," "Music By The American Colonists," "The American Romanticists," and "The Americanists."

The bicentennial concerts will be at the College of San Mateo in a Thursday evening series beginning at 8 p.m. Feb: 26, March 25, April 29, and May 27.

The February concert will be in the campus's Choral Room with the remaining concerts in the Little Theatre. The concerts are co-sponsored by the college's Community Services Department.

Season tickets are available from the society now and may also be purchased at the box office the evening of the first concert. Single tickets will only be available at the box office one hour before each concert.

For further information call the society at 341-3585.

Artist members of the Chamber Music Society's Repertory Company performing in this season's concerts are: soprano Renee Grant-Williams; mezzo soprano Mildred Owen; bartitone Donald Stenberg; pianists JoAnn Crossman Stenberg and Sylvia Kamin; harpsichordist Madeline Ingram; violinists Helen Beyer and William Whitson; violist Erwin Gordon and cellist Jessica Schackne.

Appearing as guest artist for the first time will be Joan Benson, internationally known clavichord and fortepiano specialist. Returning for a second guest appearance will be concert pianist and artist-in-residence, Laura Nast Nicolaisen.

DAY CARE CENTER (Dave Dornias Photo)

Groundbreaking ceremonies for Daly City's first Day Care Center were held last week on the grounds of George Washington Elementary School, site of the new facility. Officiating at the ceremonies was Mayor Victor Kyriakis, while "sidewalk supervisors" (l-r) Rena Gonzalez, Elvinia DeGarmo, Councilman Tony Giammona, City Clerk Anna Ohlendorf, Councilman McRobert Stewart (front, kneeling), JESD Superintendent Herb Hemington, president of the Daly City Children's Care Services, Juan J. Escobar, and City Manager David Rowe look on.

Guest Conducts SF Orchestra

Edo de Waart, principal guest conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, will lead four weeks of concerts beginning with a program Feb. 18.

It will be repeated Feb. 20 and 21 at 8:30 p.m. and Feb. 19 at 2 p.m. at the Opera House.

Works to be performed are Ives' "Symphony No. 3," Copland's "Old American Songs," and Rachaminoff's "The Bells. Featured on the program will be soprano Roberta Alexander, tenor James Atherton, baritome John Shirley-Quirk and the San Francisco Symphony Chorus, Louis Magor, director.

Maestro de Waart was appointed to the newly created position of principal guest conductor in December 1974, a position he holds concurrently with that of artistic director of the Rotterdam Philharmonic Orchestra.

Last season he toured Europe, England and the United States with the Rotterdam Philharmonic and in August 1975 he conducted the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra at the Concord Pavilion.

Sergei Rachmaninoff composed his adaptation of Edgar All/n Poe's "The Bells" in 1913.

Scholars Named

Five local students are among the 1,614 students who were named to the dean's list at California Polytechnic State University in San Luis Obispo for the fall quarter.

To qualify they had to earn grades placing them in the top 15 per cent of their schools and have been enrolled in a program of 12 or more units during the quarter.

The students, all of Daly City, are Kevin J. O'Shea, Louis R. Pietrelli, Steven G. Rucciapelli, Kenneth L. Koch and Miguel A. Vargas.

GIRL SCOUTING

GIRL SCOUT COOKIE sale reports are due to Mrs. Marilyn Fern, the volunteer cookie sale chairwoman for the Daly City Girl Scout Association by Feb. 13.

All troop report cards and requests for earned patches and jewels must be received by Mrs. Fern by then. No awards will be made to troops or girls unless the troop report card and all deposit slips are submitted.

FEBRUARY 17 a special meeting of all Daly City area young adults and Senior Girl Scouts in leadership roles will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The place will be announced by training coordinator Virginia Rusting.

Interested girls may register and receive further information by calling Janice Pettey at the Brisbane Girl Scout office, 467-3330.

BROWNIE Girl Scout leaders in the Daly City area include Susan Scaduto and Louise Anderson of Brownie Troop 1704 at Thomas Edison, Christopher Columbus and M. P. Brown schools.

Our Lady of Mercy Brownie Troop No. 2011 is led by Karen Rodgers and Diane Pangburn. Another OLM Brownie troop is led by Louise Rainey and Kathleen Hughes.

Troop No. 2059 which meets at Vista Mar and includes girls from M. P. Brown, Edison and Lincoln schools, is led by Cheryle Figone and Shirley Figone.

Panorama and OLPH girls are in troop No. 2282 led by Estelle Schueszler. Brownie troop No. 2428 is led by Marion Peterson.

All are volunteer adult leaders serving without reimbursement.

Beth Israel Sets February Events

The community is invited to attend a Sivum Latorah luncheon at Congregation Beth Israel-Judea, 625 Brotherhood Way, San Francisco, Feb. 14, following Saturday morning services.

The luncheon will be sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Tibor Havas, members of Beth Israel-Judea.

Services will begin at 9:30 a.m. with Rabbi Herbert Morris, M.H.L., and Cantor Henry Greenberg officiating. Following services all will adjourn to the Fellowship Hall for a discussion with Rabbi Morris.

A luncheon will follow prepared by the ladies of BIJ Sisterhood. Singing of Shabbat songs will be led by Cantor Henry Greenberg. The BIJ Israeli Dance Group led by Miss Rayna Morris will perform.

An interfaith dessert will be held at 2:30 p.m. Feb. 17 hosted by the Greek Orthodox Church in Holy Trinity Auditorium, 999 Brotherhood Way in San Francisco.

An entertaining program is being planned including Greek and Israeli Dancers. For more information, call Steffi Rudolph at 755-1374.

For an afternoon of bingo, Mahjong, bridge and other games, plan to join the Beth Israel Judea Sisterhood ladies at 11:30 a.m. Feb. 24 in the Fellowship Hall.

Joe Burton Opening Feb. 11, Martinelli's

Martinelli's Steak Pit in Millbrae is proud to announce the Grand Opening of the new Joe Burton Jazz Trio Wednesday night. Burton, recognized as one of the country's great jazz stylists, will introduce his new group in the lounge for easy listening and dancing Wednesdays through Saturdays from 9 p.m. 'til 1:30 a.m. . . . Peter Bovenberg, dapper general manager of The Castaway, Coyote Point, suggests you try their Scampi a la Provencale some evening. This tender relative of the lobster family is enhanced with a special Castaway sauce of tomatoes, garlic, lemon and sauterne wine and served with a rice pilaf . . . Since Charles "Chuck" Gust joined his dad and mother, Nick and Lorraine Gust, in their Rockaway Beach restaurant operation (Nick's, The Moonraker and Captain Charles), Nick has been spending more time on the golf course. One of these days, Nick, you can teach this scribe the game. Have clubs, am available (occasionally) . . . Enrico Romano has sparked the exterior of his popular Romano's restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, which resembles sunny Italy. A la carte and full dinners, side orders, pasta, nightly specials, plus a choice of 12 different kinds of pizza and an extensive win list — it's all here . . . "Double Trouble" cocktail hours (4 to 7 p.m.) still prevail each evening, Monday through Friday, in the Golden Rooster Lounge of the Rodeway Inn, South San Francisco. "Double Trouble" describes the "two drinks for the price of One" feature, with hot hor d'oeuvres being another plus from 5 to 7 p.m. Now entertaining in the lounge is Frisco Mint.

MEET THE DOCTOR

The handsome, smiling gent pictured here is Doctor Bert Wolfsohn, D.D.S. of San Mateo. Bert, as he is known in the musical world, played first trumpet in Horace Heidt's Orchestra back in the 20's and 30's. Today, he's still in action with the Palo Alto Elks Band, conducted by well known orchestra leader Dana Morgan.

Fred & Jerry Rapp Create Special Dish

House specialties are numerous in Frederick's, an elegant dining room at the Holiday Inn, South San Francisco. The Rapp brothers, Fred and Jerry, put a lot of time into creating a selective dinner menu for their patrons. Among the many entrees receiving raves is Frederic's Butterflied Prawns Sauteed. For dessert, try the Rum-soaked Dark Bing Cherries . . . Don't overlook Vince's seafood take-out depot. You'll find genuine Little Neck Clams, Maine Lobsters and Blue Point Oysters on the counter. Vince's is truly "the Peninsula's Fisherman's Wharf" . . . From opening to closing, it's best to make reservations when planning dinner at Scotty Campbell's. The Baby Back Pork Ribs and Prime Ribs of Beef are a winning nightly Exacta — and you can bet on it . . . Phil Lehr and his staff at the two elegant Phil Lehr's Steakeries in downtown San Francisco are all set for an extra-busy week. The big California Medical Association convention opened and Phil has a flock of cocktail and dinner parties booked at both locations . . . Jack Ghia's Steaks and Chicken Unique, one of nine restaurants located in Tanforan Park's Garden Restaurant complex, is certainly doing its share of business when it comes to redeeming the 50 cent "dinner hour" coupon (see today's "Bright Lights"), which provides customers with 50 cents off on any purchase over $1 at any of the Garden Restaurants. Valid Monday through Friday, this coupon must be presented after 4 p.m.

Danny Daniels Show Burlingame Fisherman

Dynamic Danny Daniels surrounds himself with two beautiful girls, Bonnie Flowers on drums and Ellee Sines on bass guitar, on stage at The Fisherman, in Burlingame, Tuesdays through Saturdays for dancing. In addition to making recordings, the group has performed at the Sahara Tahoe, Harolds Club and the Mapes Hotel . . . When visiting the South Lake Tahoe area, Barney's Casino is ideal for breakfast, luncheon, or dinner. While enjoying your meal, you can watch the Keno board, which is in eye distance from any table in the room . . . South Tahoe Nugget, another Stateline favorite, offers "The biggest $1.25 breakfast in the area." Ham, bacon or sausage, potatoes, toast, eggs and a beverage is a great way to start the day. Luncheon and dinner comes under the heading of "all you can eat for just $1.95." It's a buffet spread you wouldn't believe. "Entertainment the Nevada Way" is also at your fingertips . . . Murray Lehr has just added another luscious new dessert to the menu at Lehr's Greenhouse Garden restaurant in San Francisco that wins raves from health faddists and dessert lovers alike. It's half a fresh Hawaiian papaya, filled with either ice cream or sherbet. A treat that's as nutritious as it is delicious . . . It's been a festive week for Ray Lim and his family at the House of Lim in Redwood City, where the spirit of Chinese New Year (Year of the Dragon) abounds. Gourmet dinners served at this Marsh Manor Shopping Center restaurant include the Five Course Dinner No. 1 ($2.80) and Six Course Dinner No. 2 ($3.35). American cuisine is also availab.e

San Bruno Cracks Down on Illegal Use

Skateboard Citations Issued

By RICK SULLIVAN

San Bruno police have announced they will issue citations to anyone who rides skateboards on [illegible]

The police said they are observing an increasing number of San Bruno youngsters riding skateboards in the streets, especially in the hill areas of the city — Portola Highlands, Rollingwood, Crestmoor and Pacific Heights.

Commented Officer Robert Timko:

"We are seeing more and more kids recklessly riding skateboards out of driveways into the streets with a complete disregard for vehicles.

"These skateboards have no brakes and the only way they can be controlled is by the feet. It's unsafe to ride them in the streets, and the police department is going to start cracking down," Officer Timko said.

San Bruno has an ordinance prohibiting the riding of skateboards, coasters and roller skates on city streets and on sidewalks in the business district.

Skateboards, coasters, and roller skates are allowed to be ridden only on sidewalks in residential areas. Police warn, however, that pedestrians have the right of way on sidewalks.

Officer Timko said he believes many of the skateboard enthusiasts ride in the streets because [illegible] allow them more space to perform skateboard tricks that cannot be adequately accomplished on sidewalks.

The officer warned that youngsters caught riding on city streets for the first time will be advised to keep their skateboards on the sidewalks.

If a youngster is caught a second time riding in the streets Officer Timko said, the youth will be issued a citation, similar to the citation given those who violate the bicycle safety code.

Those cited will be compelled to attend a skateboard and bicycle safety class conducted by Officer Timko on Saturday mornings.

Timko said repeat violators will be referred to Hillcrest juvenile facility.

Parents of those cited will be notified by the police department.

Officer Timko said his safety class is designed to familiarize youngsters with bicycle and skateboard safety laws and bicycle maintenance.

Heroin Seized in DC

Daly City and San Francisco police Friday night made what they called one of the largest heroin seizures ever in Daly City when they arrested a man and a woman said to have been found with 12 ounces of raw heroin in their apartment.

The heroin reportedly had a street value of $100,000.

Arrested were Gregory Dean, 27, and Evette Dawson, 26, at 661 Villa St., Apt. 4. Police also seized a sawed-off shotgun and two handguns. The pair was booked at the Daly City jail.

Daly City detective John Kirby and Inspector Ronald Limneos of San Francisco's Narcotics Division had been conducting the investigation for several months before they made the Friday arrest. Both police departments were involved because one of the two arrested persons was thought to have had a San Francisco address.

Both Dean and Dawson were charged with possession of heroin for sale. Ms. Dawson was on state probation at the time of her arrest, police said.

Dean also was charged with possession of firearms, being a felon in possession of firearms, and maintaining a place where firearms are used.

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms also is conducting an investigation, police said.

Commemorative Plate Is Issued

A fourth commemorative plate has been issued by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the largest organization of women in the world.

The 1976 plate completes the GFWC official United States of America Bicentennial Commemorative project. Titled "Proclaim Liberty Throughout All the Land," it features three jubilant Americans ringing the Liberty Bell.

The plate will be available through local women's clubs across the nation this month. It has been designed and produced by the Fenton Art Glass Company of Williamstown, W. Va. On July 4 of this year, clubwomen will gather at Independence Hall in Philadelphia to publicly destroy the molds thereby creating a limited edition.

Help Wanted

Interpreters, drivers, and office workers are among the volunteers needed by local agencies who have listed their requests with the Volunteer Bureau-Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County.

EASTER SEALS — A receptionist to work in the office, and someone to help with the directory.

PARENTAL STRESS — Volunteers to help with the 24-hour, seven day a week phone service, the befriending program or parent-group discussions of the Parental Stress Service. Designed to give parents relief from stress arising from interactions with their children, the service introduces parents to alternate ways of handling problems.

MILLBRAE SERRA CONVALESCENT HOSPITAL — A variety of volunteer positions including a manicurist, someone to help show movies, an aide to bring patients to different program activities, and men to serve as friendly visitors.

CHILD HEALTH DISABILITY PREVENTION PROGRAM — Interpreters and translators to help answer questions for those seeking medical care.

AMERICAN RED CROSS — Drivers to take senior citizens in South San Francisco and Burlingame to and from medical appointments in Red Cross vehicles.

ANTI-SMOKING PROGRAM — Group facilitators to help with a new concept in anti-smoking sponsored by the American Cancer Society. Fifteen hours of training will be provided.

SUICIDE PREVENTION — Volunteers to help Suicide Prevention continue its service for troubled people seeking assistance and strength to cope with the crises which affect their lives. The next training session for volunteers begins March 6.

More information about these and other job opportunities may be obtained by contacting the Volunteer Bureau, 119 Primrose Road, Burlingame. It is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

ROTC CHOICE

George R. Black, 808 Bayswater Ave., Burlingame, was recently selected by the Department of Army to receive a regular army commission through the ROTC program at the University of California, Berkeley. The commission is only given to top senior cadets in the program.

Palmistry Permit Granted in South S.F.

After months of debate Sonia Williams has obtained permission to open a palm reading studio at 780 El Camino Real in South San Francisco.

The City Council approved the use permit this week overturning a Planning Commission decision made last month.

The council voted 3-2 to allow Mrs. Williams a studio in the El Camino building. Councilman Warren Steinkamp and Mayor Richard Battaglia voted against the El Camino application.

The decision came only two days after the neighboring Daly City City Council and city attorney said there will be no fortunetelling of any kind in their city — now or ever.

Other cities in the county in recent months have been faced with similar applications and each city has developed a different ordinance to regulate palmistry and other mystic businesses.

The South San Francisco council will soon adopt a palmistry ordinance that, among other things, will require any person operating a palmistry studio to submit to fingerprinting, police inspection and a $500 annual license fee. Other city businesses pay $25 fees.

Mrs. Williams and her supporters cheered and applauded the decision.

She withdrew a second appeal for a studio at 417 Grand Ave., after the El Camino site was approved.

Mrs. Williams' original application at Grand Avenue ended up in the City Council's hands after letters from churches and merchants protested the commission's Sept. 23 approval of the studio.

She then made a second application at the El Camino site at the suggestion of city staff. The Planning Commission, however, rejected that application last month.

The council majority, however, decided palmistry is a legitimate business. Opponents said palmistry would be detrimental to the business community and attract undesirables to the downtown area.

Councilman Terry Mirri said that some of the most stringent regulations in the South San Francisco code are in the palmistry ordinance. He said the council should worry about applications with more serious connotations such as one proposed by Earl Kuhns for an adult bookstore with peepshows at 107 Grand Ave.

"There's a great deal of substantial evidence we're fighting a losing battle," Mirri said.

Mayor Battaglia argued that if the business is legitimate, there should be no hesitation for the city to approve it at any location in South San Francisco. He voted against both applications.

"It's time this country gets back to the basic morality it had at one time," Battaglia said. "We're so afraid the courts will go against us that we try to second guess the courts. It's time we think about morals."

The council listened to a parade of residents, most opposing palm reading.

Joe Rousso, president of the Downtown Merchants Association, said approval of the palmistry studio would be "like a cancer entering the city."

"We cannot afford to bring in businesses that will downgrade us when we are on the up and up," Rousso said on behalf of his merchants group.

Another resident, Robert Thorpe, supported the applicant.

"For a minute I forgot this is America," Thorpe said after listening to several speakers against the application. "I can't understand why anyone would want to deny someone else a living."

After the public hearing, Councilman Frank Mammini said many of the comments "sounded to me like bigotry." Mrs. Williams and her brother, Boyd Miller, have said they are gypsies.

"Let's assume these people came in and they were not gypsies but just like you and I," Mammini said. "Would we raise our arms in fear? I don't think so."

Nursery School Conclave

"Self-Esteem in Children" will be the theme for the convention of the California Council of Parent Participation Nursery Schools which is scheduled for April 3 at the College of San Mateo.

Dr. Stanley Coopersmith, professor of psychology at the University of California at Davis and director of the Institute of Self Esteem in San Francisco, will be the guest speaker. He has written three books on the preschool development of children.

The San Mateo Council of Parent Participation Nursery Schools will serve as host for the event. Workshops are planned throughout the day, and interested parents are invited to attend.

Suit Filed To Block Airport Job

A taxpayer's suit has been filed in San Francisco Superior Court seeking a halt to expansion of San Francisco International Airport, and alleging failure to fully disclose costs and financial dangers.

The complaint seeks to halt the expenditure of $20 millions remaining from the $98 million San Francisco bond issue of 1967 and the sale of $155 millions approved last month by San Francisco's Supervisors.

The action was filed on behalf of San Francisco residents Kathleen Van Velsor, Sue Hestor and Marc Kasy by Attorney Carol Ruth Silver.

The complaint said says Securities and Exchange Commission rules have been filed because the $155 bond issue prospectus, as issued, does not include all pertinent facts, nor make adequate forecasts of the airport's ability to repay bonds from its income.

Area Officials Rap SST Go-Ahead

North San Mateo County elected officials reacted angrily Thursday to a recent decision by Secretary of Transportation William T. Coleman Jr. to allow the British and French Concorde, jet to land in Washington D.C. and New York City.

City Councilmen in Millbrae, San Bruno and South San Francisco said they would ask their respective councils to authorize letters to be written to Congressman Leo Ryan, and Senators Alan Cranston and John Tunney opposing the landing of the Concorde in the United States.

Commented Millbrae Councilman Art Lepore: "I think the Washington bureaucrats are more interested in foreign interests than our own interests.

"The United States decided several years ago not to subject the American poeple to the noise of a supersonic transport and put a stop to any exploration of getting into a commercial venture with the SST,'" said Lepore, who is also a member of the Airport Land Use Commission.

"Now we allow a foreign SST to fly into this country, and we have to put up with the noise we decided we didn't want in the first place."

South San Francisco Mayor Richard Battaglia remarked: "It appears to me that all we did was bend to the wishes of foreign countries."

"It's just a matter of time," declared San Bruno Mayor John Barnard, "before the SST lands in San Francisco."

On Wednesday Secretary Coleman made his announcement that the Concorde would be allowed to land at the two East Coast airports for a 16-month test of passenger flights.

The test period, Coleman said, would indicate whether the benefits of flying to New York from London in 3½ hours instead of seven would make development of a cleaner quieter SST" a sound capital investment."

Coleman was reported as saying that "with the exception of noise, I do not consider the environmental consequences of these limited Concorde flights to be substantial."

Coleman's decision came after two hearings on the Concorde landing in early January in Washington.

San Bruno and South San Francisco noise consultant Dr. Maurice Garbell testified at the hearings that the Concorde jet was too noisy to land at airports in New York and Washington.

The North County cities asked that Garbell testify at the hearings because they fear that if the supersonic jet is allowed to land on the East Coast it may be allowed to land at San Francisco International Airport.

Garbell testified that the Concorde is noisier and produces far more vibration-inducing lower frequency power that the already intolerable Boeing 707 airplane."

Of Coleman's decision, Garbell commented Thursday, "The Concorde is now going to be landing at the two worst airports in terms of noise sensitivity and complexity of air traffic control (in the country)."

Garbell added, "I should point out that I read in a public statement by the British manufacturer of the Concorde that there is an intent to look to San Francisco as the next anchor point for a Concorde operation.

"That operation would go from San Francisco to Anchorage (Alaska) and then branch out form Anchorage over the pole to Europe on the right hand side and Japan on the left side."

Garbell said a resolution adopted by the San Francisco Airports Commission vertually would prohibit the Concorde from landing at the airport.

But he emphasized, "The federal government does have considerable leverage to make airports do what they want to do, because the feds finance improvements at airports."

John F. Foran

Foran Enters Race

San Francisco Assemblyman John F. Foran, chairman of the powerful Assembly Ways and Means Committee, Wednesday announced his candidacy for the 6th District Senate seat vacated by San Francisco Mayor George Moscone.

Foran's announcement came at a Burlingame press conference, during which the Democrat announced his decision, "with mixed feelings."

He thus joins former San Mateo County Supervisor Robert St. Clair, thus far the only announced candidate for the seat, which represents voters in northern San Mateo County and a portion of the City of San Francisco.

"I have spent some time in San Mateo County, because in some respects, the border is almost artificial," Foran explained. "The concerns of the people of San Mateo County, and the part of San Francisco in this county are quite similar."

"Financing education is paramount in the minds of San Mateo County citizens and of San Francisco citizens, yet the school districts are substantially different," Foran declared.

"I have supported legislation for urban school districts such as San Francisco and, on the other hand, for low-wealth school districts," Foran said, "and almost all of those allocations go to San Mateo County, rather than to San Francisco."

Asked to comment on issues on which San Mateo County and San Francisco are at odds, Foran struck a conciliatory posture.

"It is an advantage to have a Senate seat which straddles the border, because we have to develop a working relationship, rather than being at loggerheads," Foran said. "For example, if BART is to be extended into San Mateo County, it must have local support."

Foran said he has no firm position on the development of San Bruno Mountain, other than "it should be a matter of local determination."

Foran, who has been a resident of the district less than a week, said he will go to court to challenge a one-year residency requirement imposed by San Mateo County Registrar of Voters Marvin Church.

"I have the opinion of legislative counsel that my candidacy is legal," Foran declared.

"I would challenge the registrar is necessary," Foran added. "I have another California Supreme Court case that says the acceptance of papers (by the registrar) is a ministerial act. The constitution does not permit him to make such a decision, because he's not qualified to do so.

"I have dealt all my life with the problems of San Francisco," Foran concluded, "and will run on three issues. They are: a setting of priorities, a platform of no new taxes and the creation of jobs within this district."

Highland Fling Opening Set

Americans long have enjoyed choreography based on the intricate steps and graceful gestures of ighland dancing in numerous movies, Broadway musicals, and television shows.

This week as part of San Francisco's British Week, the Black Watch and Royal Marines will display the authentic living tradition of Highland dances when they perform at Civic Auditorium Feb. 24 and 25.

Highland dancing, one of the most celebrated forms of folk dancing, has a unique style which unites spirited and complex footwork with delicate, simple hand gestures. In fact, thanks to Scottish immigration to this country, the steps and style of American square dancing have been influenced by Highland dances.

The performances by the dancers of The Black Watch will vividly demonstrate the wide diversity of Highland dances such as the martial excitement of sword dancing, the zest of the Highland Fling, and the precision of the Highland Reel.

The dances have a history which goes back centuries. Originating in small towns and villages that still dot the craggy landscape of Scotland, they have been handed down from generation to generation and are as integral to the Scottish national culture as the kilt and tartan.

Tickets to the two performances of The Black Watch and Royal Marines at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium are $8.50, $7.50, $6.50, $5.50 and $4.50 and are available at Fine Arts Box Office at Sherman Clay in San Francisco, Macy's, B.A.S.S. outlets, and all major agencies. For information call 421-1000.

HIGHLAND FLING Dancers in the Black Watch and Royal Marines will perform Feb. 24 and 25 at San Francisco's Civic Auditorium as part of British Week festivities.

Grant to Friends Of Teen Parents

Friends to Teenage Parents, Inc. has been awarded a $4,000 Luke B. Hancock Foundation grant to continue its work on behalf of teenage parents in Northern San Mateo County.

The Hancock Foundation cited Friends to Teenage Parents for service because they help the "many teenage girls who choose to give birth and keep their babies and are ill-equipped to become parents."

They receive guidance with parenting skills and receive emotional support. They also learn where to go for resources such as welfare, medical care and mental health.

The Hancock Foundation recognized the Foundation members for seeing "the need for a support system for teenage parents as a public concern — and one that should receive support.

Friends to Teenage Parents president, Pat Cannon, expressed the gratitude of the year-old, non-profit agency for the Hancock grant.

Cong. B'nai Israel to Assemble

Sabbath services will be observed in the sanctuary of Congregation B'nai Israel at 1575 Annie Street, Daly City at 8:30 p.m. February 13.

Rabbi Ira Book's sermon topic will be "Mr. Lincoln and the Jews."

Highlight of the evening will be the dedication of a Torah breast plate by the Bernard Shain Family. At the conclusion of the services, an Oneg Shabbat (social hour) will follow.

The Shabbat services at 10 a.m. February 13 will honor the Montefiore Senior Citizens Group of Brotherhood Way.

At the conclusion of servic$les the Sisterhood of Congregation B'ani Israel with the assistance of the Men's Club and the U.S.Y. (United Synagogue Youth) will host a luncheon for the senior citizens and others at the services.

Mental Health To Receive $500 Check

May Denning of San Mateo, treasurer of the Federated Woman's Club of San Carlos and Health Service Chairman of Golden Gate District 6, announced that a $500 check will be presented to Dr. Lowell D. Streiker, Executive Director of the Mental Health Association of San Mateo County.

Monies were raised through the group's Golden Heritage Boutique and jewelry made exclusively for the club.

The funds are to be used for friendship centers and educational and public awareness programs. With the alarming increase in mental illness not only in the county but nationwide as well, the association strives to help the chronically ill and others to cope with the pressures of our society.

Musical Set

The musical "West Side Story" will be presented by the Skyline College Fine Arts Department in the Main Theatre, 3300 College Dr., San Bruno, on the evenings of Feb. 19-21 and 26-28. Performances are at 8 p.m.

"Where more San Mateo County Want Ads are published than in any other newspaper"

Le Pacini

There are some weeks when you can't do anything right. For example, long-time readers of this space know that we rarely make predictions, because we're usually wrong, and there is nothing worse than being wrong in print, because it is a permanent thing, and you can never tell anybody that they heard you wrong. So when the 49ers hired Monte Clark, we went around telling all of our friends who at least one of his choices would be for an assistant coach, but never put it into print, and for once we were right.

When a reporter asked Clark what qualities he would look for in an assistant, Clark said that he wanted men who were intensely loyal to him, who were willing to work hard, who were dedicated and grounded in the fundamentals, and who were family men. It was logical, then, we felt, that Clark should pick up Floyd Peters, the former San Francisco State Little All American, All-Pro tackle (Cleveland, Detroit, Philadelphia, Washington), the Crockett boy who now makes his home in Hillsborough. Peters is a family man. Having been a disciple of the late Joe Verducci and then having played for Paul Brown, he was grounded in the fundamentals. He works hard and is dedicated.

WHEN HE REPORTED to Baltimore out of S.F. State as a 215-pound defensive lineman (he was listed in the Gator press book at 225, undoubtedly for the benefit of scouts), he was cut because he was too light. That off-season he dedicated himself to building his weight way up without losing his considerable speed, which he did. He became a quick 260-pounder and won a job with Cleveland the next year. As an old friend and teammate of Clark (at Cleveland), he certainly qualified for loyalty, and of course there was another dimension — brains. Peters, along with Clark, Cleveland head coach Paul Wiggin, and Dr. Harvey Williams, an S.F. State physical education professor, had once combined to write a book of off-season training which is considered the definitive volume on the subject and is entered in the Library of Congress.

We felt that all of that obviously qualified Peters for the job, and we were right. But we'll never be able to prove it. At least, not in print.

At the time Peters was at S.F. State in the middle fifties, we were doing athletic publicity for the college (at that time it hadn't reached "university" status), and we still retain two vivid memories of him.

One is a very simple image. It was in one of his first varsity games, and he was a relatively skinny freshman (195-200 pounds) playing tackle. Floyd had apparently been taken out on an off-tackle play, and as a big, strong fullback went crashing through the hole, Peters, flat on his back, reached up behind himself with his right hand, grabbed the runner — who was already past him — by the ankle, and pulled him down. It was at that point that we knew Peters would be something special.

THE OTHER IMAGE is a little more complicated. This era, remember, was in the days when anything went in college football recruiting. USC was bringing gorillas in to take final exams for their down linemen. Ollie Matson had managed to get through City College of San Francisco and USF without ever knowing the feel of a bound textbook in his hand.

It was said that when Hugh McElhenny signed with the 49ers out of the University of Washington, he took a pay cut. Peters, in the meanwhile was one of Verducci's vaunted Simon Pures. All he had ever been promised at State was that Verducci, then mayor of Daly City, would "try" to get him a job. But not one of those things where football players used to be hired to wind an annual clock. Peters actually would have to work.

So now it was four years later, and Peters was in his senior year. He had been a regular since his freshman days, when at that callow age he had made Little All Coast. He had since twice been named State's most outstanding lineman, also had been Little All Coast four times, and had become State's second Little All American. He was soon to be named as State's first East-West Shrine Game participant. When the Gators came up strong in tackles and weak in guards in that, Floyd's last season, he had volunteered to be switched to the unfamiliar guard position, even though he had received questionnaires from every team in pro football and a late position change could have hurt him in the pro draft. He had then gone on to become, of course, one of the coast's top collegiate guards. In his four years at State, he had never missed a game and, going both ways, had averaged more than 50 minutes a game.

PETERS WAS, in short, a kid who, if any college football player had ever deserved a little consideration, certainly qualified for some coddling.

One day, toward the end of the season, we were talking to Verducci as he put his squad through one of its last practices. Peters came jogging up to Verducci and asked him if he could leave practice a little early. Verducci frowned and asked him why.

"Because," said Peters, not without malice, "I've got to catch the next 'M' streetcar to my job."

"Oh, yeh, I forgot," said Verducci. "Sure. Take off. You don't want to lose that job."

Peters gratefully sprinted off and Verducci turned to us, winked, and said, "Is that simon pure, or is that simon pure?"

Oh, we almost forgot. There is one sort-of prediction we have gotten into writing concerning Peters. When he was named to the East-West game in 1957, we did a story on him which concluded with the following sentence:

"A physical education major, Peters sees a future in coaching when his playing days are over."

STORY FROM AN OFTEN RELIABLE SOURCE — It goes like this. John "The Count" Montefusco visited Horace Stoneham recently and asked him for $75,000 for 1976.

The Squire reminded him of the financial situation in San Francisco, and then asked him, anyway, if he had ever heard of a second year man getting a $75,000 contract. For once, Montefusco didn't have an answer, except to storm out of Stoneham's office, infuriated.

MORE AND MORE, Phil Smith is becoming Golden State's second most indispensable player, the other being, of course, you know who. Smith has now displaced Keith Wilkes as second man on the Warriors in minutes played, averaging almost 33 per game to Wilkes' 30. Of course, Wilkes has been bothered somewhat by a tender ankle. Barry still goes about 40 a game.

If you want to win a bar bet with someone who doesn't follow the Warriors THAT closely, you could do worse than ask the unsuspecting dupe who Golden State's top field goal percentage man is. He might think he's smart and answer Derek Dickey, and he would be close (50.2), but wrong. He could think he's pulling a sleeper and come up with Charley Dudley, and be closer (52.6), but still wrong. To be right, he'd have to say George Johnson, with his 53.9, and hardly anybody but the most avid fan would crack that one.

IF IT HASN'T occurred to you yet, it should. No matter how greedy most sports writers claim that professional athletes are — and we've been one of the guilty parties — we still believe that most real pros would rather be lesser stars and play for smaller money on winning teams than they would suffer being stars and bigger money makers on losers.

Sports
And Recreation

First for Cougars

Half Moon Bay High's basketball team scored its first-ever varsity win over South San Francisco Monday, 42-37, knocking the Warriors back into a tie for third place in the North Peninsula League.

In other games, Westmoor took its 46th straight NPL win, 52-39 over Serramonte; El Camino outlasted Terra Nova 51-44; and Jefferson raced past Oceana 64-44.

If results in the final games of the round-robin schedule follow form Wednesday, Westmoor will finish first, Jefferson will finish second and South S.F. and Serramonte will tie for third.

Since South City downed Serramonte twice during the regular season, it will probably be accorded the third-place spot in the Shaughnessy playoffs, making the opening round Westmoor vs. Serramonte and South SF vs. Jeff.

HMB-South S.F.

South City was flat — the Warriors had come back to beat Jefferson last Friday and have to play Westmoor Wednesday. And against Half Moon Bay's slowdown offense, they got flatter.

The Cougars hurried up and waited, moving quickly through a four-corner offense, and South City's big men couldn't stay with them.

HMB's Ted Cook scored 25 points; nine of his 12 field goals were practically uncontested.

Westmoor-Serramonte

The last time the two teams met, at Serramonte, the Regents took Westmoor into overtime before finally losing.

But Monday it was Westmoor all the way. Serramonte started out playing as if it wanted to stall, but Westmoor steals and conversions put an end to that.

The game was never really close after the first quarter. Jerry McNeil, returning to the Ram lineup after missing two games with the flu, came to the free throw line to hit the open man continually against the Regent zone.

After halftime Westmoor slowed things down a little, and Serramonte crept to within seven points twice in the third period, but the steals and fine outside shooting of Ram guard Danny Williams kept Westmoor out front. Serramonte had to force the action, but couldn't score. Westmoor led by as much as 45-25 at one point.

Oceana-Jeff

Jefferson's Randolph Singleton and Ron Sylvia spent much of their time either scoring buckets or trotting to the free throw line. Their foul shooting hasn't been spectacular this year, but Monday they missed only three of 16 chances between them, and combined to score 29 points.

"Segregation is not dead. It still lives in 1976 . . . Against it we must pay an eternal vigilance."
—Charles H. Wesley

LOOK INTO the school buses of Daly City on any week day morning. The black children sit in the back while the whites, Orientals, Polynesians and all others mingle in the front. Whats more, the black boys occupy the very back rows with the black girls in front of them. Between the groups there is little cordiality.

Think not that this condition is forced upon the black children. Reports indicate that they have demanded the right to choose the back of the bus and to sit together unmolested by children of other colors.

REPORTS INDICATE that a similar situation exists in the lunch rooms of the high schools. By choice — it seems — black children sit together at tables they have chosen, while the children of other groups sit together at the other tables.

Is this not segregation 1976 style?

Although it has come about as the choice of the black children, how can it be called anything but segregation, and as Charles H. Wesley, himself a black man, implies, it should be looked upon as something reminiscent of yesterday's wrongs.

It was a black man, Vernon E. Jordan Jr., excecutive director of the National Urban League, who observed that in 1976 America has reached a place in history where they can put life to Whitney Young's words. "We have come over in different ships, but we're all in the same boat now." Jordan continues, "We are all in the same boat, and that ship is sailing down Bicentennial River — with us or without us. Let's not jump ship; let's get our hand on the steering wheel instead."

JORDAN'S ARTICLE is part of a special Bicentennial issue of Ebony magazine that was issued August, 1975. It contains 162 pages of some of the most timely reading ever printed. Among the articles are those dealing with the Black press, Black athletes.

Three of the articles are directed to the question, "Should Blacks Celebrate the Bicentennial."

"Yes!" writes Dr. Joseph H. Jackson of the National Baptist Convention. "When we (Blacks) celebrate 200 years of American History, we not only embrace America's positive values and applaud her constructive philosophies of life, we also celebrate all of her victories over the obstacles to democracy and re-commit ourselves to the unfinished tasks that remain before us."

"Maybe," writes Vernon E. Jordon Jr., "opting out of the Bicentennial would close to us the opportunity to use if for our own ends . . . A constructive black presence in the bicentennial is necessary to insure against what might otherwise be a a meaningless, commercialized celebration of mythology."

"No," writes Lerone Bennett Jr. "Black people have nothing to celebrate. White people have nothing to celebrate. Red people have nothing to celebrate. We black people, white people, red people — have work to do before we celebrate. We've got to make that America which was dreamed, which was promised, which was written on pieces of paper, and which has never existed anywhere, except in the hearts of a handful of men and women. We — black people, white people, red people — have no time for fun and games."

Ebony — August, 1975, is a periodical that should be read in Daly City and everywhere.

Park Purchase To Be Surveyed

After considerable discussion and questioning, the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors agreed to hire a private engineer to determine how much land the county is acquiring to connect its Pescadero Creek and Sam McDonald parks.

The board agreed Tuesday to a stipulated judgment under which the county will acquire either 455 acres or 476 acres of the K. B. Towne ranch near La Honda at a cost of either $367,000 or $387,000.

The purchase price of the property, which would expand McDonald Park to connect with Pescadero Creek Park, is provided in the county's 10-year Charters for Parks program.

County Manager M. D. Tarshes reported that the county believes there are approximately 455 acres in the subject property, while Towne asserts there are 476 acres, noting he has been paying taxes on the larger portion.

Tarshes recommended Tuesday that the board approve an agreement with Steve Fisher, a private engineer, to conduct a survey and determine the acreage and boundaries at a cost of $7,200.

Supervisors Edward J. Bacciocco and James V. Fitzgerald balked, asking why the survey couldn't be done by the office of County Engineer S. H. Cantwell.

"We're reacting to consultantitis," Bacciocco asserted.

His motion that the county engineer do the survey ended in a 2-2 deadlock, Fitzgerald siding with Bacciocco. Supervisor Jean Fassler still is sidelined with a back ailment and wasn't present for the meeting.

Cantwell was summoned to the meeting to discuss the matter.

He said that the department's two survey crews are engaged in important on-going projects and that it would cost approximately $11,000 for the department to do the survey.

The reason Fischer can do the survey at less cost is that he already has surveyed a portion of the Towne property for a private sale and is familiar with survey points, Cantwell said.

Fitzgerald suggested that the county offer the higher price, "take it or leave it."

Board Chairman William H. Royer, County Parks and Recreation Director John T. Brook Jr. and County Property Manager Robert Friday each cited the importance of the survey.

Brook said the county should know the boundaries of the property so it can manage it properly.

"I'll pull in my horns," Bacciocco finally agreed.

The vote to have Fischer undertake the survey passed 3-1 with Fitzgerald remaining opposed.

Citizen Help is Asked To Preserve Open Space

The effort to preserve Coastside open space should be coordinated with the study by a citizens' advisory committee concerning amendment of the parks and open space element of the county general plan, the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors feels.

The board directed Tuesday that the county planning staff determine and recommend how members of a committee which devised the resolution whereby Congressman Leo J. Ryan agreed to withdraw his Golden Gate National Recreation Area study bill can become "involved" in park and open space acquisition and development and determination of the potential for federal and state assistance.

Supervisors endorsed the resolution, prepared jointly by proponents and opponents of extension of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area into San Mateo County, and by representatives from Ryan's office.

Earl Crockett, chairman of the South Coast Committee who coordinated the resolution, told the board that "We realize it's on our back to really participate and we're willing."

Crockett cited the importance of the Coastside planning and citizen participation, noting that the south Coastside has nearly one-half of the county's land area but less than one per cent of the population.

Crockett said the people advocating extension of the GGMRA and Ryan probably have "done the biggest favor by rattling the redwoods and waking up the people."

The Board of Supervisors has under submission a proposal by the South Coast Committee that a permanent committee be selected by election in the June 8 primary election and that the board appoint an "area planning commission" as provided by state law.

It is advocated by the committee that the South Coastside area to be under auspices of the permanent committee extend from Tunitas Creek south to the Santa Cruz County line and from Skyline Boulevard west to the ocean.

Waits Add To County Park Costs

San Mateo County has lost $30,000 in inflationary costs by failure to start development of San Pedro Valley County Park in Pacifica last August, as scheduled.

County Parks and Recreation Director John T. Brook Jr. informed the Parks and Recreation Commission Thursday that although the master plan for the park was adopted following a total of 10 public hearings, a citizen protest in Pacifica has resulted in a delay in the $550,000 first-phase development.

When the protest was registered, the county and the City of Pacifica agreed to a further review of the park plan and appointed an ad hoc committee of county and city officials to undertake the task.

The commission unanimously turned down a recommendation by James Miller, former Pacifica city planning administrator, that the county acquire an additional five acres adjacent to Oddstad Boulevard, at the northwest corner of the park, in order to provide a parking area which would not penetrate into the park.

Brook said the cost of the acreage would be in excess of $200,000.

The director noted that the county was prepared to begin development of the park last August, estimating the $30,000 lost in inflationary costs.

Youth Arrested

An 18-year-old Half Moon Bay High School youth is under arrest at the San Mateo County Jail for burglary and attempted extortion, following his arrest by a Half Moon Bay police stakeout team Wednesday night.

According to police, James Anthony Provenzano, 908 Golden Gate Ave., was arrested at the Venice Beach parking lot where he attempted to pick up $100 demanded in an extortion note found on a car windshield by a Half Moon Bay High School science teacher.

The extortion note demanded $100 for the return of three microscopes stolen in a burglary Jan. 25 at Half Moon Bay High School.

"Leave this note with the $100 and you'll get the microscopes back looking good," read the note. "Forget the $100 and you'll get them back but they won't be worth two cents."

The note reportedly demanded $100 in small bills, police said this morning.
